

GERMANY ISSUES PROCLAMATION OF RETALIATION AGAINST ENGLAND

Damage Wrought by Zeppelin Raid on England

Damage done to buildings on St. Peter's Plain, Yarmouth, England, on the night of January 19, when a squadron of German Zeppelins dropped bombs on Yarmouth, Kings Lynn, Sandringham and a number of other places in the vicinity.

Attention of Gov. Ferguson Called to Punch and Salad Items of Colquitt Expense

Austin, Feb. 6.—The personal attention of Governor Ferguson has been called to the quarrel in the house over the bills for punch and salad furnished for the New Year reception given by Governor Colquitt, through a letter signed by several members, asking that he hold up those items in the deficiency appropriation bill until the opinion of the attorney general upon their legality can be had. Hill's resolution to have the attorney general investigate these and other items charged against the treasury for supplies furnished the mansion was adopted this afternoon.

An itemized list of the expenditures for the governor's mansion for the two years of Colquitt's second term was sent to the house by the comptroller.

Tillotson and others sent in their minority report on the farm rent bill, substituting the New Williams bill for the Reeves-Bagby bill and further impressing the fact that the new governor is to encounter more antagonism to his pet measures from antis in the house than from pros. Tillotson is an anti; so is New Williams, while Reeves is a pro and a strenuous supporter of the governor's platform.

The house adopted a joint resolution fixing March 2 as flag day in Texas hereafter.

The fight over the bill for the publication in Texas of school books for Texas children will reach a climax Wednesday morning next, when Governor Ferguson will appear before the house committee on education in defense of publication of books within the state. He received today an invitation to that end. The alleged "book trust" also will have representatives here to make a fight against the passage of such a bill.

In this connection, W. P. Connelly, an expert printer, acquainted with the publication of school text books, has given out an interview challenging the statement that the cost of state publication will be excessive. He says that the cost of books furnished in Texas now is only about one-third the price charged to the pupil, which leaves a wide margin for profit, even if the cost of printing in Texas should be greater than in other states, which he gravely doubts.

By a vote of the house the use of the hall of representatives was granted for Monday night for a joint debate between a Seventh Day Adventist preacher named Louis Routh and R. P. Shuler, a local Methodist pastor on the subject of Sunday law legislation. Routh will oppose such legislation.

The Gibson bill hearing, to begin

Monday night, seeking the repeal of the Robertson insurance law, is the biggest card in the senate end of the capital for next week. E. D. Sculmager, cashier of the Colonial Trust company of Hillsboro, and B. Y. Cummings of the same place, one of the leading campaigners for Ferguson last year are giving Senator Gibson all assistance they can in getting support for the bill.

Governor Ferguson says he will name Atlee B. Ayres and J. T. Sluder, both of San Antonio, for the two places on the board of the Southwestern Insane Asylum at San Antonio. He also added that he wanted to see the board select Dr. Beverly Young as superintendent in place of Dr. White.

Governor Ferguson's first formal reception for the senators and representatives probably will be held March 2, Texas Independence Day.

That date has been informally decided upon.

The senate committee on state affairs this afternoon favorably reported the McNealus bill, providing for a board of public accounting.

New State Bill.

Austin, Feb. 6.—By a vote of four to two, senate committee on constitutional amendments today reported favorably the joint resolution by Senator Johnson amending the constitution so as to create the state of Jefferson out of the Panhandle section of Texas. Senator Hall withdrew his resolution for the creation of three states, North Texas, South Texas and West Texas, explaining that he will offer it on the floor of the senate as a substitute for the Johnson resolution.

In discussing his resolution before the committee, Senator Johnson said that while he did not expect the legislature to adopt the resolution, he believed it would be a means of calling attention to the great injustice done to West Texas in school taxation, distributing the congressional and senatorial districts, etc.

Senator McNealus supported the resolution, stating that he did so in the interest of the press, the public and the Panhandle, and that he did not want to deprive the newspapers "of a good story."

This committee also reported favorably joint resolution by Townsend, which permits the commissioners' court, of the several counties to appoint notaries public instead of the governor with the consent of the senate.

Morrow's constitutional amendment providing that the supreme court shall be composed of five judges also received a favorable report.

Action on the Wiley amendment to divorce the university and A. and M. college was deferred.

Five Former Bank Officials Guilty

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 6.—Five former officers of the defunct Chickasaw Bank and Trust company on trial in the United States court, charged with conspiracy and fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the bank's failure, were found guilty late today. Motion for a new trial was immediately filed by counsel for the bankers. The convicted men were George E. Neuhardt, president; S. L. Sparks, cashier; Paul J. Nelson, teller, and J. Goldbaum and J. D. Brown, directors.

The Chickasaw bank closed its doors here two years ago. It was capitalized at $25,000 and carried about $300,000 deposits.

W. S. Biles, a wealthy real estate operator, who was indicted in connection with the bank officials, filed a plea of nolle prosequere when the trial started the first of the week.

20 Miners Killed by Gas Explosion

Fayetteville, W. Va., Feb. 6.—Twenty miners were killed and 160 escaped death in an explosion in the Carlisle mine of the New River Coal company today.

That so many men escaped after being entombed was due to the fact that the cage and shaft were not damaged.

Four men were rescued by searching parties who penetrated the mine soon after the explosion, which is believed to have been due to the ignition of a pocket of gas from a miner's lamp. One was sent to a hospital.

A more extended search of the mine late today following the clearing away of debris, led to the finding of fourteen more bodies. All had been killed by the afterdamp while at work.

All the victims were of foreign birth or negroes.

CARRANZA'S SCHEME WORRIES OFFICIALS

EFFORTS OF LEADER TO ESTABLISH CAPITAL AT VERA CRUZ CONSIDERED GRAVE.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Efforts of Gen. Venustiano Carranza to establish Vera Cruz as the capital of Mexico and compel the diplomatic corps in Mexico City to go there, were discussed today by officials and foreign diplomats here as one of the gravest developments of the Mexican situation.

President Wilson conferred at length with Acting Secretary Lansing of the state department and it was understood the American government would point out to Carranza its displeasure over any inconvenience to the diplomatic corps in Mexico City.

Already a movement is in progress for the withdrawal of all legations, recommended to the home governments by some of the diplomats in Mexico City, but in view of the necessity for keeping careful watch on the interests of their nations, such a step is not considered likely to be approved by foreign nations generally.

The anxiety over the situation was reflected somewhat by the visits of the Brazilian and Spanish ambassadors, who sought information from Mr. Lansing.

It is admitted by officials of the state department that while General Carranza had renewed his invitation for the diplomatic corps to go to Vera Cruz, such a step was doubtful because of its possible construction as a recognition of the Carranza movement.

The Spanish ambassador said he had received a message from the Spanish minister in Mexico City denying the Angel de Caso, confidential agent of the Spanish government, had been or is in hiding in the Spanish legation. He discredited rumors that Carranza would deport the Spanish minister, who, he said, had no knowledge of them.

General Carranza sent the following message tonight to Emilio Arrondondo, his agent here:

"I desire to make clear that under no circumstances will I enter into any compromise with the enemies of the people's cause. I will only accept their unconditional submission to the authority of the first chiefship."

"No general or chief of the constitutionalist army is authorized to make any arrangements of a political character with the enemies of the people. I shall consider it an act of disloyalty if any chief attempts to make such arrangements or listens to any proposal relating thereto without the express instructions of the first chief."

"I will continue to ignore any group calling itself a convention or congress or assembly that may attempt to meddle with the government of the country, irrespective of the fact whether it is civilian or military."

"In furtherance of the unity of action and the speedy pacification of the country, I have decided not to convene any gathering of military chiefs or any convention, congress or assembly as long as the war continues."

"When peace is restored I shall call a congress properly elected by all the citizens, which shall have the character of a constitutionalist congress, to the end that it may enact all the reforms dictated during the struggle, and give them the validity of constitutional provisions."

The state department's summary of its dispatches from Mexico City issued tonight was as follows:

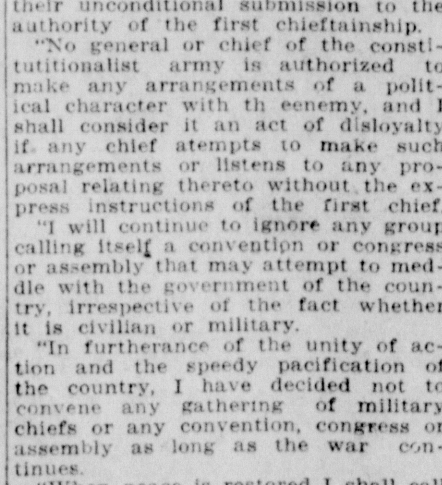

"The department is informed that on the night of February 3 the authorities in Mexico City issued an official notice to the effect that all Villa and Chihuahua bills were worthless."

"It is reported that the labor unions have called a meeting of protest against the removal of public officers from the military."

GREAT BRITAIN HAS CARRIED ON WARFARE IN VIOLATION OF LAW

MEMORANDUM OF THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT CHARGES THAT ENGLAND HAS OVERSTEPPED BOUNDS OF INTERNATIONAL RIGHTS IN INTERFERING WITH NEUTRAL SEA COMMERCE.

NORTH SEA AREA OF WAR

Claim Further Made That Leader of the Allies Has Made Shipping So Difficult and Dangerous That It Has Effected a Blockade—Pleads Vital Interests of Empire at Stake.

Berlin, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Feb. 6.—Germany officially today gave out the full text of the "memorandum" of the imperial government concerning retaliation against the measures taken by England, in violation of international law, to stop neutral sea commerce with Germany. It follows:

"Since the beginning of the present war, Great Britain has carried on a mercantile warfare against Germany in a way that defies all the principles of international law. It is true that the British government has announced in a number of decrees the London declaration concerning naval warfare, but in reality she has renounced the declaration in its most important particulars, although her own delegates at the London conference on naval warfare had recognized its conclusions to be valid as international law."

"Until the British government has put a number of articles in the list of contraband which are not, or at least are only indirectly useful for military purposes, and therefore, according to the London declaration, as well as according to the universally recognized rules of international law, may not be designated as contraband. She has further actually abolished the distinction between absolute and relative contraband, inasmuch as she has subjected to capture all articles of relative contraband intended for Germany without reference to the harbor in which they are to be unloaded or to the hostile or peaceful use to which they are to be put."

"She does not even hesitate to violate the Paris declaration, as naval forces have seized on neutral ships, German property that was not contraband in violation of her own decrees concerning the London declaration. She has further, through her naval forces, taken from neutral ships numerous Germans liable to military service and has made of them prisoners of war."

"Finally, she has declared the entire North Sea to be an area of war and if she has not made impossible the passage of the neutral shipping through the sea between Scotland and Norway, has rendered it so difficult and so dangerous that she has to a certain extent effected a blockade of neutral coasts and neutral ports, in violation of all international law."

"All these measures have the obvious purpose, through the illegal paralysis of legitimate neutral commerce, not only to strike at the German military strength, but also at the economic life of Germany, and finally, through starvation, doom the entire population of Germany to destruction."

"The neutral powers have generally

ARKANSAS BECOMES DRY AFTER ONE YEAR

GOV. HAYS SIGNS BILL THAT PLACES STATE IN THE PROHIBITION LIST.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 6.—Governor G. W. Hays signed the statewide prohibition bill at 11:10 o'clock this morning after it had been passed as amended by the house fifty minutes earlier. The measure as passed by the senate yesterday and now effective, prohibits the granting of further saloon licenses for 1915, but does not disturb those already granted.

Foreclosing the effect in Pulaski county, Judge Joe Asher granted the petition of Little Rock saloon men for licenses at 10:30 o'clock, forty minutes before the measure was signed by the governor. Fifty saloons opened immediately.

Little Rock Opens City Lodging House

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 6.—Little Rock's first municipal lodging house was opened tonight. Simultaneously there were opened in the city hall a municipal free employment bureau and a municipal loan fund, all under the direction of city officials.

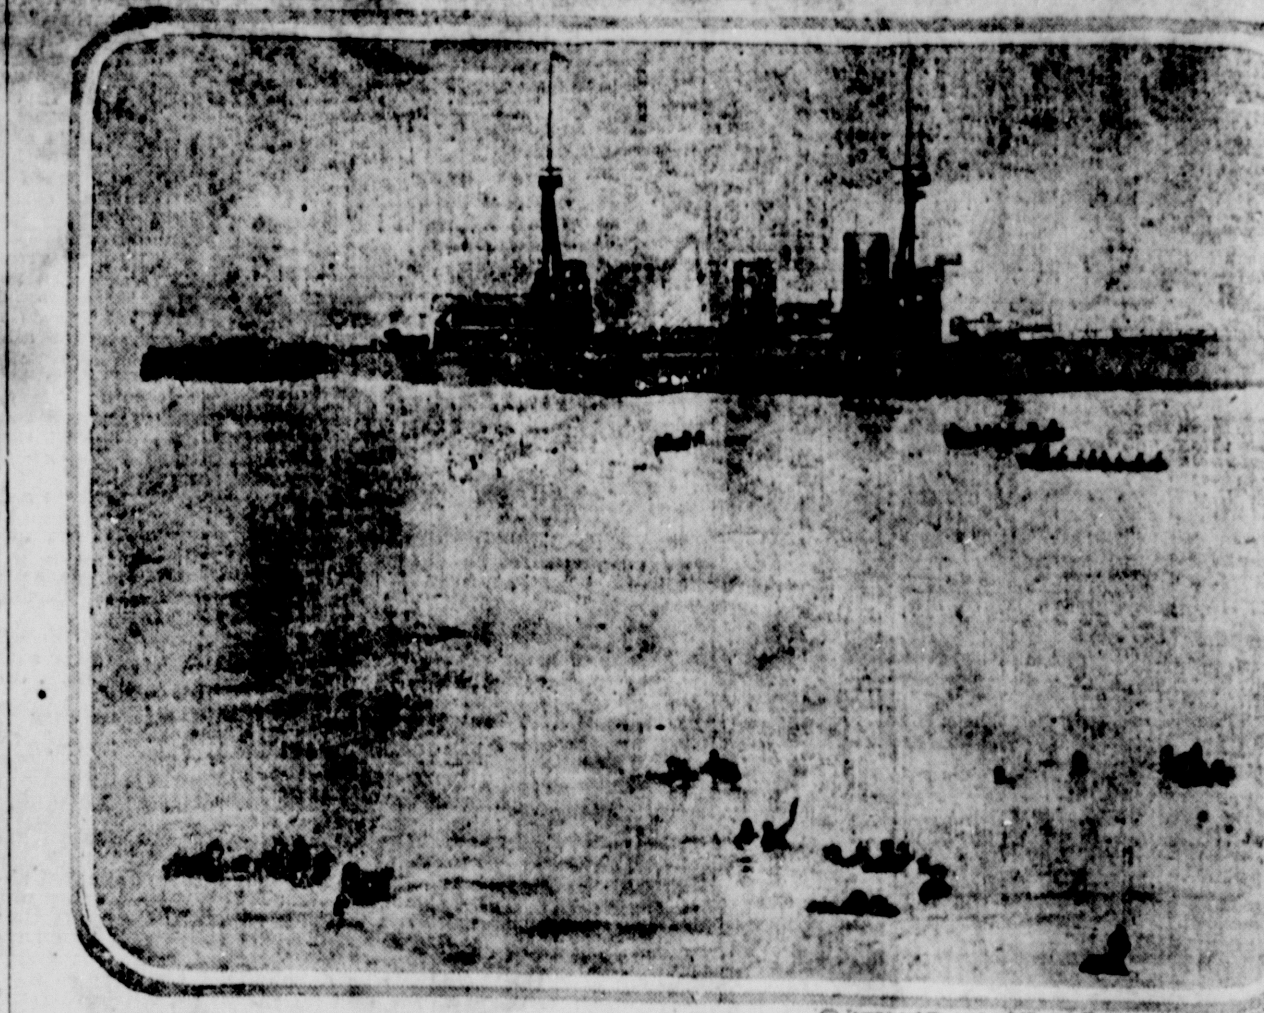

The opening of these institutions is the result of a mass meeting held yesterday to solve the problem of the nearly 4,000 unemployed of Little Rock and Argenta. City and county officials will co-operate in starting public improvements which will furnish employment to practically all the unemployed, it is believed.

Russians Change Tactics.

Venice, via London, Feb. 6.—A telegram from Budapest says that the Russians appear to have changed their tactics. Contrary to their usual custom, they are now making night attacks, it is said. They made three desperate attempts one night to force the Austro-Hungarian front and break through Dukla Pass in the Carpathians.

The Russians have collected very large forces there with the object of paralyzing the Austrian offensive. Very severe fighting is in progress, but the operations are impeded by snow.

Naval Battle Illustrated in Remarkable Photograph

This photograph was made by a British Lieutenant in the crew's nest of H. M. S. Inflexible at the conclusion of the great naval battle between the German and British squadrons off the Falkland Islands, South America. The picture shows a number of whaleboats putting off from a British cruiser, which is shown in the background, to pick up the surviving members of the crew of the German flagship. The survivors are shown swimming about in the foreground. The commander of their vessel refused to surrender, preferring that he and his men should go down with their doomed ship. The British whaleboats rescued 160 German sailors from the sea.

Mexico is for Mexicans and for Mexicans Only, Keynote of Convention

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 6.—Without a word against the Wilson Mexican plan or mention of intervention or force of arms the Mexican peace convention here today unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon Mexican leaders and Washington to terminate the strife and unite for the good of the country. More than 500 delegates from almost every section of Mexico and every political party, accepted in the convention presided over by Miguel Bolanos Cacho, former governor of Oaxaca.

The resolution, in the form of a message, is being telegraphed tonight to General Carranza, Villa, Madero, Huerta, Zapata, Angeles, Cantu and other military officials.

The convention decided upon a plan to bring about peace by the appointment of a permanent committee to the Huerta and Carranza administrations, were elected chairmen of this committee with power to name sub-committees in the United States, Spain, Cuba, Canada and other countries where there are colonies of Mexicans. This committee is to arrange for another convention in Mexico as soon as officials are received from the military officials to whom the appeal was sent.

In the opening address, Federico Gamboa, former minister of foreign relations, in a stirring speech, the keynote of sentiment which every speaker followed when he said:

"Mexico is a house for Mexicans and Mexicans only."

The convention concluded its work in three hours and adjourned sine die.

The resolution follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Mexico, in full exercise of our civil and political rights, who live as the most unjustified and cruel exiles, have assembled here today for preparing the pacification of the republic of Mexico. By common agreement we hereby resolve that our initial act will be to turn to you and all the military chiefs that occupy the different divisions of the country, in a most solemn and public way, to ask you to cease being so cruel and allow us to peace."

Iowa Wrests From Texas Crop Title

Washington, Feb. 6.—Iowa has wrested from Texas the title of banner crop state, the thirteen principal crops grown there last year being valued at $251,450,000, according to the Agricultural Outlook, issued today. Illinois crops were worth $319,055,000, while Texas comes third, with $288,355,000. Decrease in the value of cotton was the cause of the smaller value of Texas crops.

Kansas, with $287,662,000, is fourth and Missouri seventh with $192,881,000. Oklahoma is sixteenth with $134,159,000. Twenty-two states and crops worth more than $100,000,000. The states where the crops did not reach this amount included Arkansas and Louisiana.

Dallas County Farmer Killed

Dallas, Feb. 6.—John W. Hemmel, 32, well-to-do Dallas county farmer, was instantly killed late this afternoon a few miles north of Dallas, when his team ran away. He was thrown from his wagon. His neck was broken. Other occupants of the wagon escaped injury.

Traveling Man Dies of Acid Poisoning

Dallas, Feb. 6.—R. E. Christie, 25, died at his room in the Adolphus hotel tonight from carbolic acid poisoning. He was a traveling man from the North. A note addressed to a sister in Cincinnati says: "I got the wrong bottle."

Imaginary business troubles are assigned for the deed.

Probe Committee Holds.

Austin, Feb. 6.—The special committee, consisting of Senators Brelford, Hall and Connor, appointed to probe the alleged "buck" in the executive session of the senate, which resulted in certain morning papers printing what purported to be the proceedings of that secret session, held a session today and heard from several of the senators. One of the senators admitted that he had inadvertently given the name of a senator who had objected to certain of the governor's appointees. The committee will resume its probe on Monday.

MISS CORDELIA BIDDLE

One of the most interesting engagements of the winter was announced simultaneously in New York and Philadelphia. It was that of Miss Cordelia Biddle, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, of Philadelphia, to Mr. Angus B. Duke of New York. Mr. Duke is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin N. Duke and is connected with the large industries of his father and uncle, James B. Duke. He was graduated from Trinity College in 1905 and since that time has spent the greater part of his time in New York City.

GRAY HEADS

DARKEN YOUR HAIR—LOOK YOUNG AS YOU FEEL! STOP FALLING HAIR.

You can turn gray, faded, streaked with gray hair, beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you apply, on retiring, Q-Ban hair-color restorer to hair and scalp like a shampoo. Q-Ban hair-color restorer is harmless—non-sticky, delightful to use and darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. It also produces that soft, dark luster and abundance to the hair which makes the hair so fascinating and attractive, besides preventing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair and promotes its growth. This is the age of youth. Try Q-Ban and you'll be delighted with your beautiful, soft, fluffy, dark hair and lots of it and youthful appearance. Money back if it fails to darken gray hair. Only 50c for a big 7-oz. bottle at Powers-Kelly Drug Co., Waco, Texas. Out-of-town people supplied by mail.—(Adv.)

Postal Bill Appropriation.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Appropriations in the postal bill passed by the house were cut $2,000,000 by the senate today because of the decrease in postal revenues since the outbreak of the war.

Oil experts from Oklahoma have leased thousand acres at Malone, and the drilling for oil is now under way.—Adv.

One of her hand before the members of the week found Miss Grace Dyer of Herring avenue hostess to her sewing circle of girl friends, also to a very few by special invitation.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S LEAGUE

MEETS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Owing to the address of Miss Helen Todd at Carroll Chapel, upon a subject where men and women are vitally interested, the Business Women's League has postponed its combined business and knitting session from Monday until Tuesday evening.

THE TWENTY DAISIES

WITH MISS QUICKSALL

It was the twenty daisies sure enough with Miss Alene Quicksall on Friday after, when the members of the Twenty Daisies were present. In addition, Miss Mary Willett was a neighborhood guest and Miss Esli Shaw of Temple, the one from out of town. Informal music and a 5 o'clock tea with a sweet made the interruption to the rivalry between tongue and needles as to which could move the swifter.

A BRITISH NAVAL SONG

BY MISS MARIE CORELLI

If there is any one thing in which Marie Corelli is a success, it is in keeping herself before the limelight. The latest is Miss Corelli's first attempt, if we mistake not, at verse making. She is out with "A British Naval Song," entitled "We Sweep the Seas." Perhaps we are not qualified to pass judgment upon the high and mighty, but if the cat may look at the king, we suggest that Miss Corelli confine her pen to prose strokes.

THE FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB

ADJOURNS FOR LENT

But one more game for the Friday Bridge club will come, and then it is adjournment for the forty days of Lent. The hostess with whom this adjournment comes is not yet named. Mrs. John Cooper entertained the club for the last game. Her prizes, a set of croquet, tea napkins and a set of tea tumblers, fell to Mrs. A. B. Cowan and to Mrs. W. W. Seley. It was remarked that this game was out of the ordinary in that not a member was absent.

THE WEST END AUCTION

WITH MR. ELLISON

Since Mrs. Emmett Ellison is not yet matron within her own home, Mrs. George Stubbfield offered her pretty Sanger Avenue cottage to Mrs. Ellison to entertain the West End auction bazaar. Several guests were added to the game, the belle of the Misses Lucy Lazby, Louise Lawson, and Bob Rogers with the Mesdames A. R. Lawson, F. J. Lennox and Earle Massey. The leading score was made by Miss Rogers. Mrs. Rose McGhee will entertain the club next Friday.

METHODIST FEDERATION

HOLDS ALL DAY SESSION

On Thursday, the City Federation of Methodist Missionary Societies will hold an all day session at the Austin Avenue Methodist church. Roll will be called at 10 o'clock and it is expected that every Methodist woman be present for the response. All women, on any denomination, who are interested will be welcome. The special speaker of the day will be the returned missionary from Korea, Miss Laura Edwards. The lunch hour will furnish the social feature of the day. The program otherwise will bring a day of continued interest.

MISS ALBERT BOGGS

TO BE A CHURCH HOSTESS

Next Friday afternoon inaugurates the new plan for the work of the Women's Auxiliary of the First Baptist church. Mention has been made of the new order of things where the women of the church united into one large auxiliary and then divided into neighborhood sections. It is the new plan for a missionary program once a month to be given whenever possible within a private home. Thus, with next Friday afternoon, Auxiliary Number One, with Mrs. Albert Boggs, chairman, will entertain the entire auxiliary within the home of Mrs. Boggs, on Herring avenue.

MISS MARIE ANDERSON

IN SUFFRAGE ACTIVITY

The last letter from Miss Marie Anderson tells that the staid old university town of Tusculoosa, Alabama, is gone suffrage mad. Only two women in all Tusculoosa are without the fold of suffrage activity. Mrs. Nell Anderson Prowell has just given a suffrage bridge party and netted fifty dollars. Mrs. Prowell also introduced Dr. Anna Shaw to a Tusculoosa audience a few days ago. Miss Anderson writes that Dr. Shaw was followed the next night by Madame Shimmer, the foreign envoy for peace, who is delivering her lecture through the south.

MRS. F. M. LONGLEY

REPORTS ON RURAL WORK

Appointed by Mrs. Fred Robinson as president, Mrs. F. M. Longley made her formal report to the City Federation on Thursday. This concerned the introduction of canning clubs and other rural activity under the auspices of the Waco club women. Mrs. Longley said that a woman will be sent for three or four months into this country to conduct classes collectively or give instructions individually, at a nominal sum. The federation took no action, but the outcome will be watched with interest. Perhaps the meeting with the Review club with Mrs. Alexander on Tuesday, may make something definite. In this, women from the suburban communities have been invited to come into conference with the Review club.

GUESTS SPEND THE DAY

FOR GOLDEN WEDDING

Out at McGregor the observance of the golden wedding is by no means a frequent occurrence, especially when this notable occasion concerns so popular a couple as Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Torbett. On Friday these reached their fiftieth wedding anniversary. So on Friday four of the sons, who live in various sections of the county, and one daughter, together with nine distant relatives, drove out for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Torbett. Every provision had been made by friends and family for a bountiful dinner, and a general good time. These verses were read. There was more to make Mr. and Mrs. Torbett feel that their long happiness had radiated to those of the younger generation.

THE MARY WEST CHAPTER

MEETS WITH MRS. KELLY

On Wednesday afternoon the literary program for the Mary West Chapter will be followed. This will be: Subject, "Alabama, Her Contribution to the Confederacy." Roll call, name of an Alabamian who aided the Confederate cause. Music, selected, Miss Hannah Beard. Paper, "Description of Two Famous Alabama Battles," Mrs. Summer Oakes. Reading, "My Grandmother's Turkey Tail," Miss Hannah Beard. Music, voice (selected), Miss Hannah Beard. Social hour.

MRS. R. O. ROUNSAVALL

ENTERTAINS SANS SOUCIS

It is now recorded in the book of Sans Soucis good times, that Mrs. R. O. Rounsavall afforded the Sanger Avenue cottage to Mrs. Ellison to entertain the West End auction bazaar. Several guests were added to the game, the belle of the Misses Lucy Lazby, Louise Lawson, and Bob Rogers with the Mesdames A. R. Lawson, F. J. Lennox and Earle Massey. The leading score was made by Miss Rogers. Mrs. Rose McGhee will entertain the club next Friday.

Do You Suffer

From Backache?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer.

The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar combination of roots, barks and herbs. No other medicine acts like it, because no other medicine has the same formula or ingredients. Accept no substitute, but insist on having Hood's, and get it today.

Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress.

The most effective remedy to correct this condition is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, and yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headache, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy. For a free trial bottle write Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

Society Notes

Mrs. M. C. H. Park of the South Side is at Providence sanitarium for a short detention.

Mrs. Frank Wheeler, South Third street, is hostess for the Sans Soucis on Tuesday afternoon.

Just for the sake of being old-fashioned, do put a bit of sweet alyssum and mignonette into the flower bed.

It is claimed that a little salt poured upon the coffee grounds while these are yet dry will greatly improve flavor.

The Mesdames Irvine Cammack and Merrill Parker are, since Saturday, matrons of the S. L. Downs home, Columbus Place.

Miss Ida Orand is spending today with Mrs. W. M. Foster. She returns to Hillsboro for the remainder of the winter.

Pending her departure for an indefinite absence, Mrs. Susan Lyle Downs is the guest of Mrs. William Talley on Austin avenue.

Mrs. Grace Cutler, the new choir director for the Central Christian church, will direct her first choral service this morning.

One of the week-end pleasures of Mrs. M. D. Dugan of South Third street entertaining her Sunday school class in quite a happy way.

It is more than probable that Miss Helen Todd, the noted lecturer for Monday evening, will be the guest of the Shakespeare club Monday afternoon.

Let it be said, once for all, that the Morning News does not include within its women's department, items which are not up to the moment. None other need be submitted.

It is no longer considered obligatory for a hostess to accompany guests to the front door. Never is it done when a guest departing leaves another with the hostess.

Mrs. Vernon Castle insists that the fetching little dance cap must be considered a part of ballroom costume. This is certainly a jaunty finish, and, in most cases, a very becoming one.

The visit of Mrs. R. P. Chandler from Brownwood has been marked by a succession of social courtesies. Mrs. S. J. Quay entertains a few of the former friends on Tuesday afternoon.

The Misses Edwina Surgis and Thelma Ashburn, chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Shotton, will go down to Corpus Christi next week for the brilliant anniversary ball of the Nu-ecies hotel.

The club women were more than pleased to welcome the Council of Jewish Women into their Federation on Thursday afternoon. This was a very important factor in the work undertaken by the federation.

It is quite permissible for the woman who does not visit within a club meeting to attend a club meeting. The hostess is extending club and not personal courtesies; therefore, there follows no personal indebtedness.

But, is not this awful? After ridiculing Godey's fashion list, these many years, the intimation comes that we are to revert to these for our income, and that we are to follow the fashion list as preserved her "Godey's" fortunate woman she is.

Surely, after adoring Saint Valentine all these years, we are not going to boycott him this season. Only the Valentine tea of the Pulsis circle is thus far mentioned as honoring the good saint this season. What is the matter with our amorous inclination here in Waco?

Miss Laura Edwards, returned missionary from Korea, with Mrs. Edwards, is due with Tuesday as guest of Mrs. Frank Allen, Abel Place. Miss Edwards will address the Methodist federation on Thursday. She is supported in her mission work by the Austin Avenue society.

While we are catching a fashion note from Chicago, let us put along with it the one from New York which says midday's walking suit this spring must show the skirt just one inch above the foot top; this to disclose the color of the silk hose. Another opportunity for the high shut-in woman's modesty!

They do tell it, that a woman has been seen on Chicago street, actually wearing the old-fashioned hoop skirt. If this comes, the girls will have to retire to take a few lessons in the gentle art of sitting down. But there is another thing which duns your ears as you fall asleep and waits to din them again as you become awake. Life has its little compensations after all. Mrs. Frank Allen insists that hurdy-hurdy must hereafter be licensed, and, what is more, kept in tune.

If any one likes to read from May Sinclair, she will be deeply interested to hear that Miss Sinclair has had all sorts of terrifying war experience.

Something Worth More Than the Cost—Good Music in Your Home

Many homes are without pianos and therefore miss the good and refining influence of a musical atmosphere. Other homes have instruments so deteriorated by age and usage that they have become a hindrance to musical study and enjoyment.

The cost is nothing compared with the return. Our low monthly payments make it possible for nearly every home to possess a really good piano. If your old piano has lost its once good tone and quality we have facilities here to restore it; and it is worth something in exchange on a new piano or player-piano.

It Is a Wrong Idea of Economy to Go Without a Good Piano When It Is Such an Essential to Your Home Life

We have many good used pianos, materially repaired and restored in tone, that you can buy cheaply and pay for conveniently, just like rent. Some rebuilt pianos at $3 monthly.

There is no loss or depreciation in value in one of our used piano bargains. You can turn it back to us within a reasonable time in exchange on a new piano without the loss of a dollar.

Recital at Carroll Chapel. When one has worked hard and long, for years and years, in fact, to reach some creditable and very laudable position in any calling or profession, and when one has pursued this steady course towards success by the sacrifice of many personal desires—eschewing many pleasures of an alluring social life, for instance, because too much time spent even in the presence of congenial friends, could not be spared from the task set by himself or herself. Then, after many years, when success has crowned the efforts of the one who has pursued so creditable and faithful a course, and this success is accorded by those in a position to know full well, it must be that a sensation of joy and elation comes that cannot be felt by any save those who have followed the same path and reached the same destination.

In this connection, the hundreds of friends of Miss Beulah Duncan, both in her old Waco home and many other places, accord to her the heartiest congratulations on her early determination to improve a very sweet voice, and her constant and studious forward efforts to reach the exalted place she now occupies as one of the sweetest southern singers, whose clear, rich lyric soprano, her self-poise and natural grace will preserve for her a niche among the real talented singers that cannot be effaced.

Miss Duncan has worked up an excellent program and will give a recital in Carroll Chapel, Baylor University, Tuesday evening, February 16th. She will be splendidly assisted by Professors Anton Narath and F. Arthur Johnson, both too well and favorably known in Waco and as musicians to need further introduction.

Waco people will esteem it a privilege to have the opportunity of hearing this recital, and thus complimenting the talented young woman who was its inspiration. Many seats have been sold and it is confidently believed the large chapel will be filled.

Burglar Takes a Varied Assortment From Drug Store

The store of the Smith Drug company at 1220 Webster street, was burglarized Thursday night by some one who had a key that fitted the lock of the front door. Burglars left a trail of cough syrup on the floor which showed the manner of entrance. This was the only clue as the door was locked after some $50 worth of merchandise was stolen.

About $15 worth of pills were stolen. Jewelry and silverware were also taken. In fact, it seemed that the burglar took something of almost everything in the store.

"Y" PHYSICAL TRAINING

WORK OF IMPORTANCE IN CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION—CONVENTION AT COLLEGE STATION.

Proceed on Idea Strong Body Goes Well with Developed Mind—Dr. Fisher Is Coming.

One of the special features to be discussed at the state convention of the Texas Young Men's Christian association, which is to be held at the A. & M. College, College Station, February 18-21, will be the physical department of the associations.

The Young Men's Christian Association, it is said, was the pioneer organization in giving attention to the physical well being of young men and boys of the cities under wholesome influences. It is known that some years ago most of the physical work carried on in the nation, was conducted by professionals whose aim in most cases was to make pugilists or professional athletes of certain types. The Young Men's Christian association conceived the idea that a strong body could well go with a developed mind and well rounded character, and therefore called to positions of leadership physical directors who entered the association work in its physical department that they might occupy positions giving them opportunity to develop all around Christian manhood.

The leader or association physical directors of America is Dr. George J. Fisher of New York City, who will be present at the convention and discuss the physical work of the association. Dr. Fisher is looked upon as a leader in his sphere, and is counseled with not only by association men, but with leaders in schools and with other men having to do with physical and moral well-being of men.

There are 637 gymnasiums connected with the associations and in addition 173 athletic fields. During the last year practically 300,000 different men and boys took physical exercise regularly in the associations.

Several Waco men interested in association work will attend the convention.

WATER BOARD WILL DISCUSS REDUCTION OF MINIMUM RATE

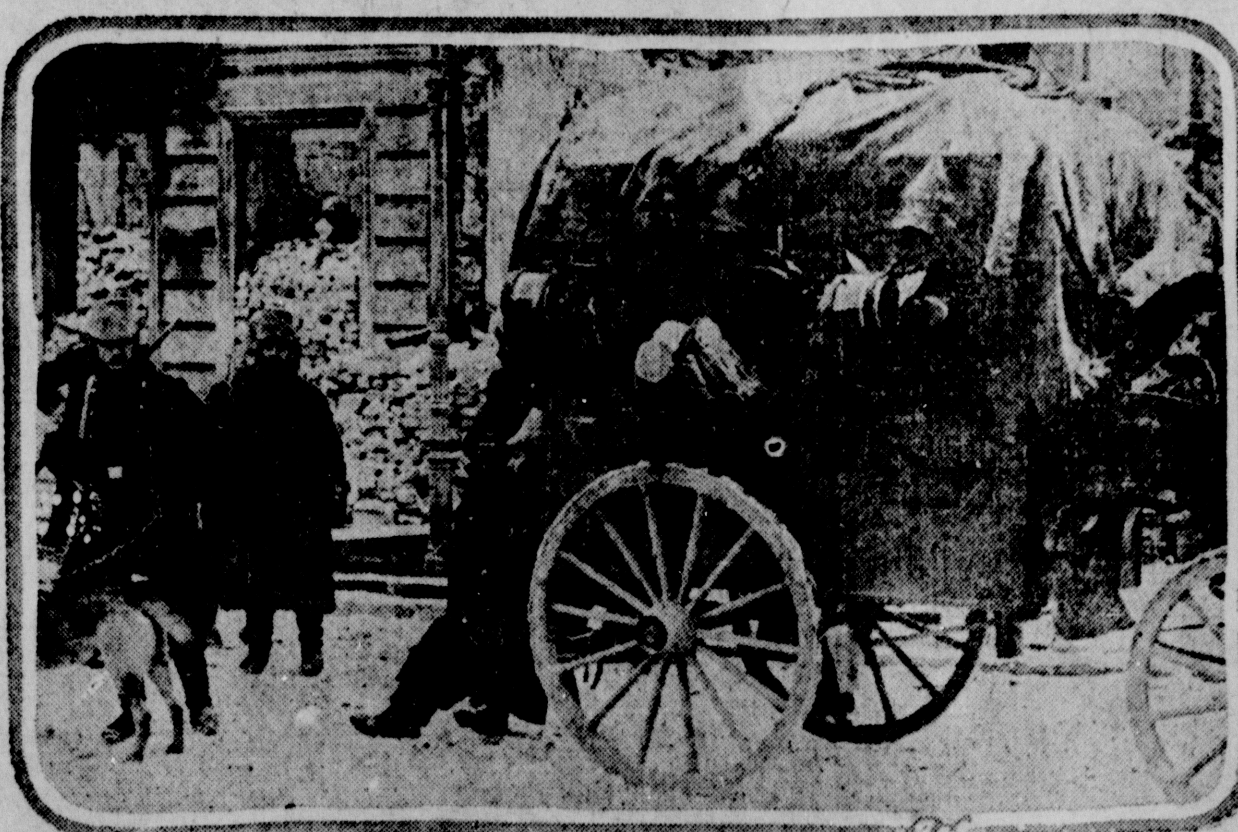

At the regular monthly meeting of the water commissioners which is to be held Monday night, several matters of a routine nature will come up. It is understood the proposed reduction of water rates will be discussed. The board has taken no action with regard to the proposed reduction, and no plan has been proposed. If a reduction is made it will not come before April 1. The board is not certain that a reduction of the minimum rate of $1 to 75 cents is possible for some time. However, they are anxious to reduce the rates if possible.

Baraca-Philathea Monthly Meeting

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IS THE SOLE TARGET

WHOLE AMMUNITION OF PRO FORCES SHOULD BE AIMED AT IT, SAYS MR. SEWELL.

MAKE THIS THE ONLY TEST

If Waco Convention Will Proceed Along This Line, Basis Will Be Laid for Making Texas Dry.

Ablene, Tex., Feb. 6.

To the Waco Morning News: I have read with interest and deep concern what has been said through the columns of the News to the prohibitionists of Texas by Drs. Cranfill and Gambrell and Mr. Strong, and I beg your permission to say just a few things in that connection.

First, I believe the meeting to be held in Waco on February 9 and 10 to be the most important since the one held in Dallas which resulted in our first submission campaign, and I urge the attendance of every person interested in driving the liquor traffic out of Texas.

Second, I beg you to attend the meeting with open hearts and minds. What we desire is to drive the saloons out of Texas. Then let us come together and diligently seek out the best methods of procedure. Let us not become so wedded and committed to any one plan that we shall be in a position to act properly.

Third, as to whether we should continue affiliation with the American Anti-Saloon league under its new charter I shall not form an opinion. I wish to obtain some additional knowledge, which I expect to get at the meeting. One thing, however, I am positive of, and that is we must have a strong, compact, efficient organization of Texas men extending into every nook and corner of the state. Our organization, whatever we call it, and whatever its connections, must be brought to the masses of the people. It must be the people—the great masses—who hate the liquor traffic and who vote against it. Our organization must reflect their convictions and feelings if we would win.

And there is one other thing I know. It is just this: If our organization is to succeed in driving the liquor traffic out of Texas, it must stay out of personal and party politics and leave other issues alone. Its motto must be: "This one thing I do." We need an organization extending into every precinct in Texas and composed of men who oppose the liquor traffic; not to determine who its members shall vote for; not to determine how its members shall vote; not to determine on woman's suffrage, the tariff or any other question; not to determine whether its members be Christian or non-Christian, Catholic or Protestant, Methodist, Baptist or whatnot; but leaving its members absolutely free as to men, political parties, religion and other issues, our organization must be a "ONE THING—FIGHT THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC."

Some people say it can't be done this way. I say as confidently it is the only way it can be done and done permanently. Give us an organization of the great masses of Texas who are against the liquor traffic, when presented to them, separated from all other issues, and without reference to men or creeds or parties, and I do not believe that our officers are from constable to governor, or how they stand on other questions, we will get statewide prohibition and the law will be enforced after we get it. There are enough men in Texas against the liquor traffic to get the submission of the question from any legislature, and to adopt it when submitted. If we can only get these men into a compact, efficient organization. This we will never do if our organization undertakes to control its members as to men, parties and other issues. Let us form an organization as extensive as Texas, assuring every man who comes in that it stands for one thing—driving the liquor traffic out of Texas—that he is absolutely free on every thing else in the world to do as he pleases. Then let the leaders of the organization keep faith with the members and the liquor traffic will not last long in Texas.

"But I have been told 'You will lose the support of the politicians.' If this be true, then I know that I am right. How many politicians assisted us in our first submission campaign? We won without them. And if we had kept them out of our affairs and we had remained out of theirs, haven't I doubt we would have statewide prohibition now. I urge you to come to Waco. Come with your minds and hearts open. Watch the points suggested in this letter. Let us make our organization all of this and only this. Our one test of fellowship in this meeting and organization should be opposition to the liquor traffic. We need and we should desire and we must have every man who is sound on this question, whether he be Jew or Gentile.

The Easiest Way.

They are telling in Washington an anecdote about the president. The president, at a recent dinner party, conversed with a self-made millionaire who disapproved of the study of foreign languages. "I've known men to get less through knowing foreign languages, but never more," the millionaire declared. "I don't follow your reasoning," the president said, with a smile, "when you claim that a knowledge of foreign languages means less money. Your view is, then, that there is money in not knowing foreign languages, eh? Well, if that be so, it certainly is an easy way of acquiring wealth."—EX.

COUNTY TO FEED ITSELF.

Brandon Trussell Says Wise Is Planning to Live at Home.

Dallas, Feb. 6.—"We believe Wise county can and will feed itself during the coming year," said County Superintendent Brandon Trussell, addressing a local institute of teachers at Chico. "There is no more important or worthy undertaking in which the schools of this county may engage than that of encouraging the boys and girls in the rural districts to farm by using more brains, thereby decreasing the amount of labor necessary and increasing the wealth of the country."

"More frequently than we like we hear some one complain that the schools are not emphasizing with due importance the necessity of children learning something of business. This is distinctly a business age, and boys and girls should get some training along that line, and as we are living in a county primarily agricultural, business in it means the business of producing crops."

"This last year two children in this county have shown that they know how to grow corn. Despite the fact that it was not an ideal season for corn, Linny and Esper Walker, both residents of Decatur, produced sixty-nine and seventy-six bushels respectively on one acre, and were each awarded prizes by the Texas Industrial Congress in the Texas corn club contest."

"Undoubtedly it would give me pleasure to be able to say this year of corn was a result of what these pupils learned at school; and while I claim for the school more than some are willing to admit, nevertheless I feel that they learned more, and gained more from the instructions of the congress in the raising of these particular crops than they did from the schools."

"But for the coming year we mean to co-operate with the congress in every way possible, through the teachers and the schools. The congress has been able to do one thing we have long hoped to do, but have found beyond our power. It has induced these boys and girls to keep an accurate account of some piece of work they had to perform. They have kept account of the cost of fertilizer, if any was used, they know how many hours they worked, how many hours a team was used. They know how much rainfall the crops got, and when it came. They know the nature of the soil, they have studied the results of their labor and learned from their experience."

"Perhaps the most important feature of their experience is the fact that they have learned a lesson in thrift that will make them self-supporting citizens when they reach maturity. The lesson taught above all others is, that to succeed in life one's occupation or business must pay a living wage and give a profit above all expenses. And, further, the only way to know whether one suffers a loss or makes a profit is to keep an account of each. From an educational point of view this lesson would be well worth from forty to fifty dollars. But Linny and Esper Walker have learned the lesson and made that amount rather than spent it."

"For these reasons, we have decided to urge every boy and girl who can do so to enter one or more of the contests to be conducted by the congress this year. We appreciate and feel quite definitely the actual gain that has already come to this county through the congress, and mean to utilize it to the fullest extent in the future. Personally I can conceive of no greater opportunity a county superintendent of school in Texas has than that of bringing the aid this organization is prepared to give to the children and people of his rural districts."

Alumni to Attend Y M C A Exercises

College Station, Tex., Feb. 6.—Alumni and friends of the A. and M. college will journey to College Station Sunday, February 14, to attend the dedicatory exercises for the Y. M. C. A. building. The new Y. M. C. A. home, which was erected at a cost of $75,000, is ready for occupancy. Soon after the dedication the building will be utilized as the meeting place for the Texas State Young Men's Christian Association which will be in session February 18-21.

The new Y. M. C. A. home is one of the most handsome in the south. It was erected by popular subscription, some of the funds being donated by persons living outside of the state. Alumni and friends of the institution, the present students and officers of the college all gave liberally towards this fund and the building stands as a monument to their liberality.

The dedicatory exercises proper will be held at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, February 14. Speakers will be Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the college; Col. E. B. Cushing, of Houston, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., and Hon. J. H. Kirby of Houston, who gave liberally to the fund. Dr. H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth and Rev. Mr. Storey of Bryan will pray and Mrs. George D. Marshall of Bryan will sing.

At 8:30 o'clock that night a sacred concert will be given in the chapel of the new building and L. A. Coulter, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will talk. Proceeding the concert Dr. Bizzell will hold an informal reception in the building and at the close of the concert and address the building will be thrown open for inspection. Alumni from Houston probably will charter a special Pullman car and will come to College Station Saturday night. Similar plans are being made by the Fort Worth and Dallas alumni and former students and the present indications are that the dedication of the building also will result in a general meeting of old students.

The new building is very ornate and the furnishings are elaborate. Dr. C. P. Fountain, Prof. A. Mitchell, F. D. Steger, paid secretary, Col. Cushing and others worked unceasingly to obtain sufficient funds to erect the building.

Watchdogs of Riches.

Thomas Jefferson's idea of an adequate navy was a fleet of two small coastal craft to be used in the defense of our littoral. The nation paid dearly for his attitude in the war of 1812. What few American frigates there were maintained in a marvelous way the integrity of the country on the oceans, vindicating American aptness for the sea. Had the number of our ships been at all adequate the war would have ended before it did, and the nation would never have experienced the humiliation of the enemy tramping at will the streets of its capital and applying the torch to its buildings.

The United States is the treasury of the world. Its imperial cities must be guarded. The cataclysm in Europe has proved that men cry peace, but there is no peace. Mars broods over the world, sullen, insidious, desperate. Tomorrow he may fan animosities into fever heat. We must have floating barricades. Our isolation makes them our sure defense. We need not rush into extravagance or enter a mad in armament.

But for the richest nation of the world to be careless in the protection of its assets is Carthaginian folly. It invites a Zama. Congressman Mann is right. Mr. Hobson is right, and so, it appears, is Senator Penrose. The nation is entitled to adequate protection, and an administration which fails properly in preparation for the national defense need expect nothing but overwhelming repudiation at the polls.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Letters from the People

Defense of Jitney Cars.

Waco, Tex., Feb. 6.

To the Waco Morning News:

I have been reading articles on the jitney car, and it is strange why people are taking so much interest against them and in favor of the street car company, and yet not a word do we hear from the car company. It is an insignificant matter to them, I suppose. Then why should different people lambast the jitney car? It surely is not the love they have for the street car company.

Why did not these same people protest when the street car company ran a competitive line to Dallas and cut the fare way down, against the railroad company?

It is in this matter just as it is in the gas matter, destruction of competition. If we had two gas companies here we would have good service and courteous treatment. You allow any individual, company or corporation to monopolize a thing, and the people can go to the devil for all they care. If there were only one department store in Waco, where would the people be when it came to buying their clothing? If any one furniture dealer had the exclusive privilege on furniture in Waco, where would we be?

I believe the city should have the right to regulate the jitney and motor, their service come up to the standard. I believe in regulation and not in prohibiting.

Let the jitney car run and maybe we can get some service we have needed for twenty years.

Respectfully,
V. A. FIELDS.

Reduction No. 3 On Goodyear Tires

Effective February 1
Making Total Reductions 45 Per Cent in Two Years to Give Always the Most for the Money

We are glad again for the third time in two years to announce a big reduction on Goodyear tires, effective February 1. Goodyear policy on price is to give the utmost in a tire at the lowest possible profit. Our reductions are made to that end, without ever reducing the quality.

As rubber came down our prices came down. As our output multiplied, reducing factory cost, our prices came down with it. In two years our reductions—including the present—have totaled 45 per cent.

Last year we increased our output 26.6 per cent. A few days ago the embargo on rubber was modified so that supplies seem assured. The market price for rubber seems for a time established. Fabric costs less than last year. So, under our minimum profit policy, we announce this new reduction.

Only Fair Basis

We consider profit margin on a tire the only fair price basis. We keep that margin just as low as our line allows. While we do that, Goodyear tires will always undersell any tires that compare with them. That is because we have the largest output. We have a new factory, modernly equipped. And we have worldwide facilities for buying rubber, of our extra grade, at the lowest market price.

For a long, long time most tires have sold much above Goodyear prices. Some have sold one-third higher. A few have sold lower, because of less rubber, less quality. But we can and do, under all conditions, give more for the money than any rival tire can offer.

The Best We Know

Goodyear Fortified Tires offer the best we know. They are built to give you the lowest cost per mile. They minimize tire trouble in five costly ways employed by no other maker. And they are always the same, regardless of price reductions.

Most tires will always sell higher, because of smaller output. Some tires will always sell lower because of lower standards. But we promise you that none will ever give better than Goodyear value.

This policy has made Goodyear the largest-selling tires in the world. It will keep them so as more men find them out.

Ask your Goodyear dealer for new price on the size for buy.

Germany's Proclamation of Waters War Zone Is Issued

Washington, Feb. 6.—Germany's proclamation of a war zone in the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, contrary to first reports, does not include the seas directly adjacent to any neutral countries in Europe.

The official text of the proclamation received today from Ambassador Gernard at Berlin by the state department and made public tonight, reveals that the areas directly bordering on the territorial waters of France and Great Britain are held to be in the zone of operations within which neutral vessels may be subject to the hazards of naval warfare.

The original wireless report stated that shipping north of the Shetland Islands, in the eastern basin of the North Sea, and for thirty nautical miles along the Dutch coast "would be endangered in the zone of war," as the waters around the belligerent countries.

The official text after pointing out that the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, including the English channel, were to be considered within the zone of war, says, however, that the "routes of navigation around the Shetland Islands in the eastern portion of the North Sea in a strip 30 miles wide along the Dutch coast are not open to the danger zone."

Officials are awaiting with much interest the arrival of the explanatory memorandum referred to by Ambassador Gernard, for it outlines the steps which German naval commanders will take to verify the real character of vessels flying neutral flags, and assures the American government that every effort possible will be made to save passengers and crews of vessels which may be carrying contraband, little ground, if any, for protest against German's action in advance of any specific violation, will remain in the view of high officials of the Washington government.

A statement issued by the German embassy here declaring that American ships laden with foodstuffs for the civilian population of Germany's enemies would not be molested and expressing the hope that Great Britain would not be seized the American steamer Wilhelm, carrying food supplies to Germany, make necessary the adoption of a different policy, was one of the numerous developments of the situation during the day.

Officials read with interest unofficial reports that the British ship Lusitania had entered Liverpool flying an American flag, and it was thought probable that the subject of the use of neutral flags by belligerent merchantmen might be discussed in diplomatic channels with both Germany and Great Britain as a result of the charge made by Germany that a British order was in existence permitting such changes of flags.

The minister of The Netherlands, acting on the first published reports concerning the closing of navigation along the Dutch coast, inquired of Acting Secretary Lansing as to what the attitude of the United States would be, but learned that no decision had been reached.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, asked Mr. Lansing as to the difference between the official text and published reports and inasmuch as the state department had not yet received the proclamation probably will be formally transmitted through its channels.

In the informal discussion of the possibilities of injury to neutral shipping, irrespective of the action of the United States, state department officials recalled that the record of the American government in sinking ships which endeavored to run the blockade during the civil war contained some cases in which innocent lives were lost. As the German proclamation does not prescribe a blockade, there is no warrant for the sinking of any neutral merchant ship, in the view of many officials here, without first determining the character and destination of the vessel and taking off passengers and crew.

While high officials declined to intimate what their course would be, it was evident that the American government would not protest against the designation of water areas as "zones of war," but would endeavor to learn what protection would be afforded by the German navy to American ships which did pass through the danger lines.

It was regarded as unlikely in many quarters that beyond a statement of the American government's opinion that neutral vessels which might be considered lawful prizes of war, no other diplomatic action would be taken.

Narrow Escape

An old German was delivering a self-imposed address on military science.

BAYLOR PREPARES FOR ORATORY CONTEST

SIX MEN SELECTED TO SPAR
MONDAY ON PRELIMINARY
STATE CONTEST.

NEW COLLEGE CLASS EDITORS

College Papers Select Editors and Managers—Frank Dixon Speaks
Here Tuesday—Other News.

Of the eleven Baylor men who submitted manuscripts for the preliminary state oratorical contest the following six were chosen to speak Monday, February 15, in Carroll Chapel: W. A. Bowen, "A Page From Unwritten History;" J. E. Willingham, "Human Conservation;" S. D. Dollahite, "The True Source of Progress;" J. D. Chalk, "Israel Among the Nations;" E. D. Guthrie, "The Present Financial Stringency;" and H. J. Pritchard, "Conservation of Public Health."

The man securing the highest grade on both manuscript and delivery will represent Baylor in the state oratorical contest to be held with Austin college at Sherman April 16.

Dixon Speaks Tuesday

Frank Dixon, who lectures on "The Man Against the Masses" in Carroll Chapel Tuesday evening, has the distinction of being one of three famous brothers, the other two being Thomas Dixon, the novelist and lecturer, and A. C. Dixon, pastor of the Tabernacle church in London. Frank Dixon is a graduate of the University of South Carolina and has been lecturing for the past twelve years, during which time he has made an average of 150 lectures a year. He discusses socialism because to him it is an influence menacing individual and national characters.

His lecture, "The Man Against the Masses" is a defense of individualism against socialism, in which he claims that socialism is not a political party but a religion.

New College Editor

The four college classes have elected editors and managers for the class editions of The Lariat, which will be formally started when the seniors edit the college weekly, February 18. John Q. Adams will be editor in chief for the seniors, with N. V. Morgan as business manager. For the juniors Emil Mikoska has been elected as editor with Grady Moore as manager. Harold W. Walker is editor for the sophomore week, with E. D. Guthrie as manager, while H. C. Morrow will serve for editor for the freshmen, with H. Sanderford as manager.

Nathan Morgan was elected captain of the Baylor tennis club at a meeting of the Tennis Association Monday afternoon. Plans are being formulated relative to repairing the Minglewood courts preparatory for the State Tennis Tournament, which will be held at Baylor about the 12th of April.

A campaign has been inaugurated by the local Y. M. C. A. to induce as many students as possible to attend the state Y. M. C. A. convention, which will be held under the auspices of Agricultural and Mechanical college at College Station, February 18 to 21. Many of the students have announced their intention of attending and it is thought that perhaps fifteen or twenty will go.

Coming Prohibition Contest

Many of the Baylor students are preparing manuscripts for the preliminary prohibition contest. At least six are preparing manuscripts. Although not a relatively large number, this is a marked increase over the showing of that last year, which was the first time the girls were allowed to compete for the prize.

The payment of a twenty-five cent fee per quarter by each student and the awarding of gold, silver and bronze letters to the journalist, orators and prize writers for the Texas Inter-collegiate Press Association are the first amendments proposed to the self-government constitution that have received the attention of the executive committee. The amendments will be ready for a ballot at the next meeting of the student body.

Claimant of Ogden Estate Found Dead

Houston, Feb. 6.—T. S. Earl, who claimed the estate of the late multi-millionaire Francis A. Ogden by virtue of a holographic will, was found drowned in a water tank at his home this morning. Earl was a profligate and dissipated man and about one week ago the probate court had rejected the will he offered. His counsel was planning an appeal.

After an investigation, Justice McDonald returned a verdict. Earl's wife awoke at 5 a. m. to find a pistol and a search lasting some hours his body was found in an iron tank at the rear of the house. His right shirt was lying on the rear porch and the body was nude. Earl was a native of New York and had worked in many newspaper offices, but four years ago he had been identified with daily papers in Houston.

While the will presented by him contained no such provision, Earl insisted that he had verbally instructed him to devote the major portion of his wealth to educational ventures for rural youth. In a letter left his wife Earl said he was 62 years of age and that he had never been guilty of a dishonorable act; that the will he presented was genuine; a fact he asserted he said standing upon the threshold of eternity, he refers to at the time of his death, and his integrity in bitter terms and concludes with some requests as to the disposition of his estate.

PRESIDENT TELLS OF LOYALTY

Addressing Y. M. C. A., He Says He Judges Men by Performances.
President Wilson tonight opened a membership campaign of the Young Men's Christian association with an address in which he said he reserves judgment of all men until he sees them perform. The standard by which he judges loyalty, he said, is stern and rigid—the man must prove his worth.

"I have long ago received with amiability, I hope, of all sorts and conditions of men," he said, "but after I have heard their professions I wait patiently to see their performance, and I do not pass any judgment until they have proved themselves. If he cannot show his quality when put to the test, I may not say anything the next time he comes around and professes his loyalty, but I will do a lot of thinking. I think within my own head if he really thinks I am as innocent as I look."

"You know the slang expression 'He is a bad actor.' You are not speaking of the stage. You mean he does not do what he says."—Washington Correspondence of New York Herald.

Candidate for re-election as City Tax Collector. Lived in Waco 33 years. Will appreciate your support. Can point with pride to my record as a citizen for a great number of years and during my incumbency in office.

John Maxwell on His Campaign

To the Voters of Waco:

If a man is qualified to fill the office of a second term is usually accorded to him in the democratic primary. This is a custom established in the beginning of the American government, and has been followed consistently throughout the country for more than a hundred years. I feel confident that my record as an attorney during my first term, which is now just closing, can not be successfully attacked. I therefore earnestly solicit your vote for re-election to my second term, in the primaries on the 16th of this month.

During the past two years in which I have served as city attorney, I have endeavored diligently and honestly to perform the duties assigned to the legal department of the city government. These duties have covered a wide field of important matters. I have prepared for the city contracts that aggregate in excess of half a million dollars; I have examined land titles for the city of approximately seventy thousand dollars in value, and have prepared bonds covering the work done under the instructions of the city of almost every conceivable character; I have written under the direction of the city commission a great number of ordinances, civil and criminal, and have now in course of preparation others, such as a building code and a plumbing code, which are being prepared under the advice and with the assistance of the inspector in the several departments. I have advised the water commission, all the different departments of the city, and the city commission in all its legal matters, a great number of which opinions are now on record in the files of the city, and I am confident that no legal findings therein made can be successfully refuted in the courts of our state. There has been quite a lot of civil litigation during my first term of office, and up to this date not a single judgment has been taken against the city in any contested civil suit during the past two years, thus maintaining the splendid record already established by my predecessors. I have endeavored to conduct the affairs of the corporation court so far as the attorney's participation therein is concerned with absolute fairness and shall continue to do so. The corporation court is a people's court, handling the petty affairs and misunderstandings of the city, and in conjunction with the judge and the police department I have tried to see that every man shall be treated fairly, but that violators of the law against whom there have been filed complaints are prosecuted vigorously.

In the matter of the deliberations of the city commission, and in the consideration of matters before them, I have in no instance participated except as I have been requested to do so by them. I do not feel that the legal department should make itself a part of the legislative department and I have never at any time advised any commissioner on any question how I thought he ought to vote. When questions of policy have been submitted to me I have uniformly declined to answer, because they are not in my jurisdiction. Whenever a question involving the legal rights or obligations of the city or of any officer of the city has been propounded to me, I have endeavored to give a prompt and correct answer thereto. In doing this, I have not pleased everybody; I could not do so if I desired. I have simply endeavored to find the law upon the facts as presented to me by the commissioners or other officers, and to render my opinions according to that law. I have done that without fear or favor, sometimes contrary to the personal wishes as to what the law is, but always honestly and sincerely desiring to give the city the benefit of my very best professional services. I have sacrificed my private interests to that end, have gone to considerable expense in procuring books for the purpose of being correct in my findings. I have not intentionally offended any citizen but have simply endeavored to track the law, and do my duty as I have been called upon to do.

For all these reasons, and others that might be mentioned, I solicit the votes of the citizens of Waco, for re-election to the office of city attorney for a second term.

Very sincerely,
(Adv.) JOHN MAXWELL.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Headachy, Take a Spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out" if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad, if stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is de-stroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salfate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

SHIPPERS PROTEST FULL CREW MEASURE

PASS RESOLUTION ASKING LEGISLATURE TO REFUSE TO PUT PROPOSAL INTO LAW.

PROTECT WACO INTERESTS

Waco Shipping Interests Ask Same Consideration Accorded Other Towns.

Waco shippers will ask the interstate commerce commission to consider the interests of Waco in connection with the petition of Fort Worth and Dallas for relief from hardships claimed on account of the Shreveport rate. A resolution, protesting against the passage of the full crew bill by the legislature, was passed by the meeting of shippers, held yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

C. W. Payne presided over the meeting. The petition, filed by Fort Worth and Dallas shippers with the interstate commerce commission, was gone into thoroughly. The decision reached was that Waco should file an interplea, asking that no changes in rates be permitted that would be detrimental to the shippers' interests of this city. Shreveport has a great natural advantage over Dallas and Fort Worth on the one hand and Houston on the other, it is claimed, though the rate granted that city by the interstate commerce commission. The rate on first-class freight from St. Louis, as a basis point, to Shreveport was fixed at $1.25 a 100 pounds, while that from St. Louis to Texas points is $1.47 a 100 pounds.

Through combinations of rates, Shreveport jobbers are enabled to sell merchandise within thirty miles of Dallas or Houston at the same price as the jobbers of those cities, thus giving Shreveport a material advantage. Waco shippers only come in competition with Shreveport at two points and have the advantage of receiving inbound freight at the same rate given Dallas and Fort Worth, although a hundred miles farther away from St. Louis. And the Waco shippers do not wish to lose any advantage that might accrue from present conditions and will fight to maintain the same situation, so far as their connection with Dallas and Fort Worth in the tariff schedule is concerned.

C. W. Payne, J. C. Dillard and William E. Edgar were appointed on the committee to prepare the necessary cross bill or brief to submit to the commission. They will prepare this petition as soon as possible, for it is expected that the commission will take up the matter in the near future. Shreveport derives her advantage because of water transportation, which figures in the tariff to a great extent. In case Brazos river navigation ever becomes a reality, it is believed that Waco will be granted a rate probably as low as that now enjoyed by Shreveport, according to some of the shippers.

The fight on the full crew bill was on the alleged grounds that it would, if effective, mean an expenditure of approximately $2,000,000 on the railroads operating in Texas inside the next twelve months. To meet this added expense it is feared that the railroads would be granted increased rates, as they are already complaining that they cannot make things go under existing conditions and are asking now that the rates be raised.

The same committee was instructed to draft resolutions on the full crew bill and send copies of it at once to Senator A. R. McCollum and Representatives New Williams, Edgar E. Witt and H. P. Jordan.

Sullivan Hearing Almost Completed

Washington, Feb. 6.—After hearing two witnesses today, James D. Phelan, special commissioner investigating the conduct of James M. Sullivan, minister to the Dominican republic, announced that hearings here would be concluded on next Tuesday, to be resumed in the Dominican republic. Joseph Tumulty, secretary for the president; Secretary Bryan and Representative Hamill of New Jersey are the important witnesses still to be heard in Washington.

Harry S. Dickey, who investigated for the state department the accounts of John L. Mann, former director general of public works of the Dominican republic, and Charles H. Albrecht, former vice consul in the republic, were today's witnesses. Both commanded the work of Minister Sullivan.

European Nations Buy 75,000 Horses

Washington, Feb. 6.—Warring European nations have bought and exported more than 75,000 horses from the United States but there is no immediate danger apparent that continued export will cause an acute shortage of horses in this country, according to G. A. Bell of the bureau of animal husbandry in the Agricultural Outlook, published today.

"We could sell two or three times the number already exported without there being any appreciable shortage of work horses," the statement adds. "The kind purchased are for the most part very mediocre animals which would ordinarily sell for less than $100 a head, and are a class of which we can well afford to be rid."

The big demand for horses will probably occur after peace has been declared. At that time the countries now at war, with the exception of Russia, will, no doubt, be very short of horses for their agricultural and other work.

"The demands on the United States, which has been one-fourth of the world's horses, will, therefore, be large and will probably continue for a number of years. This country, however, will be in position to meet this demand."

Men talk about what they will do tomorrow, but never a word about what they are going to say tomorrow. Most talk is unpreparedness.—New York World.

Relations of University and the A. and M. Explained

Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the A. and M. college, today received the following from E. B. Cushing, Houston, president of the board of directors, and which explains the attitude of the A. and M. board with reference to the relation of the University of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical college.

In view of the fact that the board of regents of the University of Texas has caused to be published an address of the retired president of the university to the board of regents, who, among other things, advocated the consolidation of the university and the Agricultural and Mechanical college under one board of directors, compels the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college to present to the people of Texas a brief history of the negotiations between the respective boards regarding the relations of the two schools and to present further some reasons against the proposed plan.

Whatever differences may have existed between the two institutions they were composed and harmonized by two separate agreements between the two boards for two sessions of the legislature preceding the present one and the Agricultural and Mechanical college wishes to show at the present time by the following statements that it is entirely disposed to harmonize the actual or imaginary differences that may now exist. The board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college believes that the one board plan as provided in the Tillotson bill would result in the consolidation of the university and the Agricultural and Mechanical college and ultimately lead to the absorption of the Agricultural and Mechanical college for an impairment of its efficiency.

Some Facts of History.

The board of regents of the university and the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college at joint meetings have entered into two definite agreements providing for the separation of the two institutions, the last agreement having been entered into on January 6, 1913, which also provided for the division of the university lands and endowments. On November 24, 1913, the board of regents of the university sent a formal invitation to the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college, requesting that the two boards join in some plan to have the legislature submit a constitutional amendment providing for the complete separation of the two institutions. It seems, therefore, that the governing boards of both institutions are committed to the definite principle of separation.

SENSE ABOUT FOOD

Facts Worth Knowing.

It is a serious question sometimes to know just what to eat when a person's stomach is out of order, and most foods cause trouble.

Grape-Nuts food can be taken at any time with the certainty that it will digest. Actual experience of people is valuable to anyone interested.

A Terre Haute woman writes: I had suffered with indigestion for about four years, ever since an attack of typhoid fever, and at times could eat nothing but the very lightest food, and then suffer so with my stomach I would wish I never had to eat anything.

"I was urged to try Grape-Nuts and since using it I do not have to starve myself any more, but I can eat it at any time and feel nourished and satisfied; dyspepsia is a thing of the past, and I am now strong and well."

"My husband also had an experience with Grape-Nuts. He was very weak and sickly one spring, and could not attend to his work. He was put under the doctor's care but medicine did not seem to do him any good until he began to leave off ordinary food and use Grape-Nuts. It was surprising to see the change in him. He grew better right off, and naturally he has none but words of praise for Grape-Nuts."

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

ple of separation as the most desirable method of settling the differences of the two institutions.

The democratic party in two recent platforms is committed to the complete separation of the University of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical college. The democratic platform adopted at Galveston in August, 1910, contained the following:

"Provision should be made for the separation of the Agricultural and Mechanical college from the University of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical college from the University of Texas should be adopted at San Antonio in August, 1912, reaffirmed this provision of the permanent platform in the following words: 'We reiterate the demand made in the state democratic platform in 1910 that the legislature propose and submit an amendment to Section 11 of Article 16 of the constitution providing for the complete separation of the university and the Agricultural and Mechanical college.'"

The democratic platform adopted at El Paso last August did not expressly declare for separation but it demanded that the differences between the Agricultural and Mechanical college and the university be fairly and equitably adjusted, etc.

That these platform demands providing for the separation reflect the wishes of the people of Texas was clearly indicated in the overwhelming vote of the people against consolidation of the two institutions.

Separation of these two institutions has been urged by many of the most important organizations of the state. The Farmers' Congress with its twenty-five affiliated organizations have repeatedly urged and requested the legislature to separate the two institutions.

The board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college do not desire any conflict, contention or strife and in order to remove what is said to be the cause of strife, namely, the division of the university permanent endowment fund between the college and university, the college hereby declares its willingness to recommend that this matter be relegated to the legislature or to a non-partisan commission to be provided for by the legislature and the board hereby expresses its willingness to accept and abide by any decision and award so made.

We believe that the agricultural interests are of such importance that all agencies of instruction should contribute in every way to the promotion of a knowledge of scientific agriculture. In the preparation of teachers for agricultural schools it is important that the university, the Agricultural and Mechanical college and the normal schools should provide adequate instruction and facilities for teaching this subject.

The board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college realize that the university has been greatly handicapped in its development by the constitutional prohibition that prevents the appropriation of funds by the legislature for permanent improvement. We therefore urgently recommend that this restriction be removed in order that the legislature in its good judgment may provide for the building needs of the university.

To emerge the institutions under one board and one administration would be to destroy the institutional identity which has existed for thirty-eight years and to minimize the importance of agriculture in a state where agriculture constitutes more than 75 per cent of the state's productive industry. The paramount importance of agriculture in Texas is sufficient reason for the maintenance of a separate agricultural college and experience in other states firmly demonstrates the wisdom of separate agricultural colleges.

In view of the repeated agreements and communications between the board of regents of the university of Texas and the board of directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college, and the importance of repeated declarations of democratic party platforms in this state, which represents the public opinion of this people, in view of the popular election in 1913 unequivocally opposing a measure of consolidation, in view of the action of all conspicuous and representative agricultural organizations.

Hot Tea Breaks a Cold—Try This

Get a small package of Hamburg Broom Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

tions, and in view of the new and similar responsibilities which have been placed upon land-grant colleges under the federal legislation known as the Smith-Lever act, the directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical college believe that a measure of constitutional separation should be submitted at once to the judgment of the people and that in no case should the legislature attempt to change the historic policy of Texas in respect to these two institutions without the expressed approval of the popular vote.

Dr. Dernburg Gives Germans' Watchword

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—The watchword of the German nation during the war has been "all for one, one for all," declared Dr. Bernard Dernburg, former imperial German minister to the colonies, who addressed a mass meeting tonight under the auspices of the local branch of the German Red Cross society.

"German State Ideals" was the subject of his address. Another speaker was former Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas.

Speaking of support given the government by German social democrats, Dr. Dernburg said:

"All voted in the reichstag for the war expenditures, because they felt that in Germany they had so much for which to thank their country, they could not desert it in the hour of destiny. They have practiced a unity of interest in times of peace and they continue to do so in time of war."

CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK CHILDREN NEED "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

A COATED TONGUE MEANS SLUGGISH LIVER AND BOWELS. LISTEN, MOTHER!

Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if its tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has sour stomach, diarrhoea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills. Give a teaspoonful and in just a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food, clogged in the bowels, passes out of the system and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless fruit laxative and it never fails to effect a "good inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle.

Mother, keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Don't be fooled.

AUDITORIUM.

"Within the Law."
After two years at the Eltinge theatre, New York, where it played to capacity business from the beginning to the end of the long engagement, "Within the Law," Fayal Veller's absorbing melodrama of modern life, in New York, will come to the Auditorium theatre next Friday night. This play, which has for its principal theme an exposition of the police methods and economic conditions that exist in the metropolis, has excited more comment than any drama produced within the half-century. The minimum wage question now being agitated so widely is one of the important themes selected by the dramatist as the basic material of his play. There is a story of a poor shop-girl who is sent to prison for a crime she does not commit. After her release and a vain endeavor to obtain decent employment, she becomes the "brains" of a gang of "crooks" and as their leader carries on various schemes by which she obtains enormous sums of money, managing always to keep within the pale of the law, and snapping her fingers in the face of the police department. One of these "crooks" comes into possession of a revolver silenced with a Maxim patent mute. This ingenious and terrible weapon wreaks silent havoc throughout the play and becomes an object of pivotal interest in the theme. How Mary gets her revenge and how in the end "Joe Garson," the bad man—whom every one loves—is brought to justice, how Inspector Burke closes the tangle of the law around the main characters, and what finally happens to Mary and her confederates will undoubtedly excite the interest and curiosity of every theatre-goer. An excellent company will give the play at the Auditorium theatre.

Clara Joel will again assume the role of Mary Turner, supported by

"Mabel, Fatty and the Law," one reel, featuring Mabel Norman and (Fatty) Roscoe Arbuckle, the big fat comedian. Majestic drama, "The Farewell Dinner," featuring Billie West in two reels and a story taken from Munsey's Magazine.

Monday—Broncho drama, "Shorty's Adventure in the City," two reels and Majestic drama, "An Old Fashioned Girl," one reel, featuring Dorothy Gish.

Tuesday—Keystone comedy "Mabel and Fatty at San Diego," one reel comedy, featuring Mabel Norman and Fatty Arbuckle. American drama, "Law of the Wilds," in two reels.

Wednesday—Majestic comedy drama, "The Double Deception," one reel, comedy drama, "Which Would You Rather Be," one reel. American drama, "Imitations," one reel.

Thursday—Princess comedy drama, "Pleasing Uncle," one reel. Keystone drama, "College Days," in two reels.

Friday—Keystone comedy title not yet received in one reel. Reliance drama, "Heart Beats," in two reels.

COZY.

At the Cozy theatre yesterday afternoon Besse Dainty, in "Cinderella," has played to the biggest matinee she has had since she came to Waco. Every night in the house was sold before the curtain went up, extra chairs were brought from the stage and placed in the boxes, and before the show was half over all the standing room allowed to be sold was doing duty. This big house added to the large house last night brings Miss Dainty's first week at the new Cozy into the winner class and her engagement at this tells Yamato and his daughter of a new God, the God of the Christians, who is all justice and more powerful than Buddha. The sailor eventually converts his benefactors to Christianity.

The sailor and the girl marry, despite the protestations of the natives, who, headed by the prophet, visit the old noble. Lord Yamato tells them that he has renounced his Gods and the mob tears him to pieces. Another part of the mob has gone to the Japanese-American mission to try and prevent the marriage ceremony. The American minister manages to protect the two by secretly sending them from the mission by way of a back window.

The natives are suddenly awed by the spectacle of the volcano belching forth smoke. The earthquake comes upon them and from this moment the picture is one long series of thrills. The sailor and the girl return to the hut to find it in flames and old Yamato dead with the cross clasped in his arms. The girl, with the superstitious of her race, believes the activity of the volcano due to her defying the mandate of the gods. She begs to be allowed to remain and die by her father's side. The sailor vainly tries to convince her that the eruption is only a coincidence. He finally picks her up in his arms and carries her to the beach. There a boat is procured and both are finally rescued.

MAJESTIC.

Adelaide Irving and players presented "Out of the Fold" to crowded houses yesterday. The company of real actors are working themselves into the theatre-going people of Waco, and the manner in which they all play their respective parts bespeak for them a long and prosperous run in Waco, which they intend making their permanent home for an indefinite time, and Waco should feel proud to know that the management was able to secure such a splendid company of all-star artists. If one should look for a weak spot in the cast he would not know where to begin, as each and every member of the company seems to be cut out just to fit in and make one of the best balanced companies to be found anywhere. Miss Irving, of course, is fast becoming a favorite, but each and every one of her company deserve credit for their excellent support.

Commencing Monday night "The Call of the Woods" will be presented for the first time in this city; a play that is sure to please everyone—full of love, pathos and lots of comedy, and thrilling situations. This will run for the first half of the week with a special ladies' souvenir matinee Wednesday afternoon. The management has other good royalty plays in preparation, such as "Madam X," "The Squaw Man," "While the City Sleeps," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," "Freckles," "Third Degree," and others, and it will be the policy as in the past to give their patrons the best that can possibly be had for the money. the same excellent company that was seen here last season.

AUDITORIUM.

Fritz Kreisler.
Fritz Kreisler, the great violinist, who is making a tour of this country under the management of C. A. Ellis of Boston, is the possessor of three extraordinary violins. One is a rather small Stradivarius, not large in tone, but of exquisite quality which he uses often for recitals in small halls. The second is a Gagliano, the work of one of the earliest and most famous of the Italian violin-makers who flourished in Florence in the first half of the seventeenth century. The instrument, however, that he uses the most is one made by Josef Guarneri del Gesu, which was formerly the property of the great Wilhelmj.

This Guarnerius is one of the finest instruments in existence and it would be difficult to compute its value in dollars and cents. The chances are, however, that if it were put up for auction at Christie's in London it would bring from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars. It is a large instrument with a large mellow tone characteristic of its kind, and Kreisler uses it almost entirely when he plays concertos with orchestra. He has other instruments, of course, but these are the most famous. At the Auditorium March 26.

REX.

The management of the Rex theatre states that they have been quite busy the past week in renovating, remodeling and disinfecting the theatre in order that the Wacoans might have a real photoplay house that will rank among the cleanest and one of the best in Texas and perfectly sanitary and safe for anyone to visit.

We also wish to state that we shall at all times cater to the ladies and children and will upon telephone notice make arrangements for any photoplay parties which by way are all the rage in the larger cities.

We shall show the Mutual program and in which the Keystone comedies are famous and such leading photostars as Lillian Gish, Dorothy Gish, Winnifred Greenwood, Virginia Kirtly, the Waco girl, Charlotte Burton, Vivian Rich, Mabel Norman, Billie West, Ed Coxen, George Fields, Charles Chaplin, Sid Chaplin, the world's famous comedians with the Keystone, (Fatty) Roscoe Arbuckle, Irvin Cummings, Harry Von Meter, Fred Burns, Bob Burns, Eugene Pate, Flo LaBadie, James Cruze, Margaret Snow and a great many others too numerous to mention.

Below here is the coming week's program:
Sunday, today—Keystone comedy, popular house now promises to be one of her greatest successes.

The play for the first half of this week is "The Parish Priest," the bill in which the late Daniel Sully starred so successfully and in which he endeared himself to theatre-goers of all religious denominations. The piece is one of the best comedy dramas ever set up for a public to enjoy. Its humor is so delicious, its plot is so extremely plausible, its characters so true to life, and its dialogue so free from all that could be construed as offensive, that Miss Dainty takes pains to recommend it. It is a flawless story of the triumph of kindness over ambition and jealousy. The leading character is a kindly old priest whose niece, Nellie, loves a young doctor, Jim Welch, has worked in the mines to give his brother his education. An old doctor, Cassidy, has turned over to the young man his practice and prevails upon him to become engaged to his daughter, not knowing that the young doctor was practically engaged to the priest's niece. The daughter, who has just had a bitter quarrel with the man she really loves, accepts the doctor to spite her sweetheart. The old priest and his niece, not

"The Wrath of the Gods."

A powerful and gripping story has been evolved from an old Japanese legend associated with the ancient Samurai family of Yamato. Tradition states that many years ago a member of the house of Yamato pursued his adversary to the foot of the altar of Buddha, and slew him. The gods, angry at the sacrifice, are said to have appeared to the offender and cursed him. His race was doomed to extinction and all were forbidden to marry any member of his family. The gods further decreed that, should any disobey this commandment, the wrath of the gods would be visited on the island. The volcano of Sakura-Jima would open its bowels and destroy all within its reach.

For years Lord Yamato, the last male member of his race, has lived in an isolated part of the coast in an endeavor to shield from his pretty daughter the knowledge of the curse that is upon his family. The girl has been forbidden to stray far away from home. One day she is playing alone on the rocks when she meets a handsome young Japanese fisherman. The stranger pauses to chat with her. The old prophet of the village comes upon them and he warns the young man that the girl and her father are under a ban and ostracised by the villagers. The prophet forbids the young man to hold further converse with her and he leaves, awed by the earnest solicitations of the old man who is much revered by the natives.

The daughter of Yamato returns home broken-hearted and the father is grieved to learn that he may no longer keep the secret of their isolation from her. Old Yamato has erected a statue of Buddha out in his garden and both go out there to pray for mercy from the gods. The girl, angry at the injustice shown by a god who

SHERIFF'S SALE.
The State of Texas, County of McLennan.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale, issued out of the honorable Nineteenth district court of McLennan county, of the 29th day of January, 1915, by R. V. McClain, clerk of said court, for the sum of three hundred and three and no-100 dollars and costs of suit, under judgment in favor of the West End Realty Co. vs. J. E. Neel and A. B. Lattimore, placed in my hands for service, I, S. S. Fleming, as sheriff of McLennan county, Texas, did, on the 29th day of January, 1915, levy on certain real estate situated in McLennan county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

Situated in Waco, McLennan county, Texas, and being lots 10 and 11, in block "J" of the West End addition to the City of Waco, according to the map of said addition duly recorded in the deed records of McLennan county, Texas, and being the same property conveyed by the West End Realty company to A. B. Lattimore by deed recorded in book 256, page 328 of the deed records of McLennan county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of J. E. Neel and A. B. Lattimore and that on the first Tuesday in March, 1915, the same being the 21st day of said month, at the courthouse door of McLennan county, in the City of Waco, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. by virtue of said levy above described real estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder as the property of said J. E. Neel and A. B. Lattimore.

And, in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Waco Morning News, a newspaper published in McLennan county, Texas.

Witness my hand this 29th day of January, 1915. S. S. Fleming, Sheriff McLennan County, Texas. By F. N. OLIVER, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE.
The State of Texas, County of McLennan.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale, issued out of the honorable Nineteenth district court of McLennan county, of the 19th day of January, 1915, by R. V. McClain, clerk of said court, for the sum of fifty-seven and 10-100 dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment in favor of the officers of the district court of McLennan county, Texas, did, on the 19th day of January, 1915, levy on certain real estate situated in McLennan county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

All that certain tract or parcel of land, situated in McLennan county, Texas, and being lot No. 4, block No. 6 of the Gerald addition to the City of Waco, Texas, and being the same property conveyed by deed from Jesse Rayford and Rebecca Evans to Mary Cannon by deed dated January 9th, 1915, and recorded in Vol. 236, page 635 of the McLennan county deed records, to which deed and the record hereof reference is here made for a better description, and levied upon as the property of Mary Cannon, and that on the first Tuesday in March, 1915, the same being the 21st day of said month, at the courthouse door of McLennan county, in the City of Waco, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. by virtue of said levy and said execution for costs, I will sell above described real estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said execution.

And, in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Waco Morning News, a newspaper published in McLennan county, Texas.

Witness my hand this 6th day of February, 1915. S. S. Fleming, Sheriff McLennan County, Texas. By F. N. OLIVER, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE.
The State of Texas, County of McLennan.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale, issued out of the honorable Nineteenth district court of McLennan county, of the 3d day of February, 1915, by R. V. # Announcement to the Trade

We are now open for business and ready to serve the merchants throughout the Southwest territory. Our stocks are new, fresh and clean and embrace the season's best offerings in Dry Goods, Notions, Furnishing Goods, Ladies', Misses' and Children's Ready-to-Wear. Every character of merchandise to be found in our building has been selected by a corps of buyers who can be classed as experts in their respective lines. Special consideration has been given to the assembling of stocks best suited to the requirements of the trade throughout this section of the country.

A Word as to Our Policy

Our business is to be conducted along broad, liberal and well defined lines.

Any merchant may safely entrust his business to us, feeling secure in the knowledge of our being amply able to extend such accommodation as may be required.

No account will be too large for us to handle—none too small to merit our most painstaking consideration.

No Introduction Is Necessary

WHEN you visit our place of business, you realize at once that you are not with strangers. The men who make up our organization have, for the past eight years, been identified with the Dallas Market as employees of the Harris-Lipsitz Company. Each and every one has served the trade often; you will find them ready and eager to serve you again.

The Spring Market Season

Is now open. We extend you a cordial invitation to come to Dallas; visit us at our place of business; you will find us located in the building formerly occupied by the Harris-Lipsitz Company, at the corner of Commerce and Austin streets, opposite the Dallas News Building. (Interurban cars stop in front of our door.) Consider us in connection with the purchase of your Spring Stocks; let us demonstrate to you the character of service we are giving.

Now, having admitted what many of you may claim is more than the facts warrant, I venture the assumption that the conditions which have been referred to are disappearing. The business men of this country at the present time are on a better basis than ever before.
Helps Trade and Lessens Crime.
West Virginia testifies that after having tried statewide prohibition for six months it finds that prohibition helps trade and lessens crime. It is declared that from the standpoint of business prosperity and civic welfare the best thing West Virginia ever did was to declare for statewide prohibition. This is the testimony of leading bankers and other business men all over the state, according to facts and figures gathered by the temperance society of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Home Economics Week.
Austin, Feb. 6.—Among the women of the state who have signified their intention of attending the Home Economics Week to be held at the University of Texas, beginning February 15, it is noted that numerous teachers of domestic science in the schools of the state will be present.
In response to the letter sent by Mr. Doughty, state superintendent of public instruction, to all the school superintendents of the state, recommending that each school or community be represented by one or more teachers of domestic arts and sciences, numerous letters have been received by the Department of Home Economics of the University of Texas. San Antonio manifests its confidence in the worth of the week by appointing all of the teachers of domestic arts and sciences of the city, numbering 12 in all, of Home Economics and Home Welfare of the university during the Home Economics Week. Houston follows suit, expressing its intention of being represented by fourteen teachers from the schools of the city.

Many other smaller cities of the state have designated their teachers to attend the week at Austin, expressing the opinion that they are confident the money spent in sending the teachers will be amply justified in the benefits which will redound to the community.
In addition to the already mentioned teachers, many teachers of art in Texas will attend the week especially to hear the lectures of Henry Turner Bailey, acknowledged the highest authority on art and art subjects in the country.

SAY, DOC, WILL RADIUM BURN?
Congressmen Show Curiosity Over Exhibit on House Floor.
(Washington Correspondence New York Sun.)

When representative Foster of Illinois, chairman of the house committee on mines and mining, exhibited two tubes of radium worth $11,000 on the floor of the house today, fully thirty members crowded about him. The most inquisitive was Representative Jacobway, of Arkansas, who showed signs of nervousness as he asked:
"Say, doc, will that stuff burn if you touch it?"
Doc Foster assured the Arkansas democrat that radium was cold and unresponsive, whereupon Representative Jacobway gently stroked the two tubes as they lay in a plush-lined jewel case.
Representative Foster said the radium had been produced by Dr. Howard Kelly, of Johns Hopkins University, in a Denver laboratory under the supervision of the bureau of mines, being the first product of the federal bureau. He added that the prospects of a large output of radium not under "trust" control seemed assured, and that the price would soon be at so low a figure as to promise great things for surgical operations requiring it.

WANT THIRTY-FIVE MEN ON PIPE LINE

CONSTRUCTION WORK FROM WACO END WILL START EARLY TOMORROW MORNING.

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Crew on Other Side of Mart Busy Digging This Way—Pipe Unloaded
Along Right-of-Way.

Thirty-five more men and twenty more teams are wanted tomorrow
for work on the Waco-Mexia pipe line.
The men are requested by H. B. Snider, superintendent of construction, to report at the L. & G. N. "Y," two miles out from Waco. Preference will be given to those who enrolled with the municipal employment agency. The pay will be 24c a lineal foot, and it is claimed that a good man can make between $1.50 and $2 a day.

The crew on the other side of Mart is doing well, said Mr. Snider last night, and one ditching machine is at work there. With good weather, he hopes for rapid progress, as the men will be working from both ends of the line toward each other.

Five miles of pipe have already been hailed out from Waco along the right of way, said P. B. Crosby, general superintendent for the Hope Engineering company. Work began at the Mexia end of the line several weeks ago and Mr. Crosby says sixteen miles of pipe already have been laid toward Waco.
As stated above, the work of digging the ditch and laying the pipe from the Waco end of the line will begin tomorrow morning. A great deal of pipe has been unloaded at Waco, Hallsburg and Mart.

Neither Mr. Crosby or Mr. Snider would make any prediction as to how soon the work would be completed.
The survey extends for forty miles between Mexia to Waco, and of this about sixteen miles has already been partially completed. With good weather, it is estimated that the work will require more than a month's time.

State News

Cranfill Replies to Gambrell.

Dallas, Feb. 6.—Dr. J. B. Cranfill today issued a statement in reply to
Dr. J. B. Gambrell's statement. Dr.
Cranfill is in favor of national direction and supervision. Dr. Gambrell is opposed.

The state convention at Waco, Tuesday and Wednesday, will decide the future relation of the two bodies by its action on the question of adopting the new constitution of the Antislavery League of America, giving power of confirming state superintendents' election to the national board.

Dr. Cranfill states some of the differences of opinion between his view and that of Dr. Gambrell, as follows:
"He wants the tail to wag the dog and I want the dog to wag the tail."
"He wants the commanding general to be subordinate to the lieutenant and I want the lieutenant to be subordinate to the commanding general."

"He wants a local organization, managed, equipped and controlled by the forces of a given state, and I want a great national organization which will co-operate with all the states and which will have a central organization of undoubted financial strength, mental acumen and managerial ability."

"He wants the prohibition movement
sectionalized and I want it nationalized."

"He believes the entire movement
should be exploited by the Sunday school churches through the entire elimination of the politicians and while I believe as much in the church and Sunday schools as he does, I at the same time, believe it ought to be advanced through high-class political methods for the reason that the final arbitrament must be at the ballot box."

Dr. Cranfill asserts that "Dr. Gambrell's article reverses all the traditions of his public life so far as it has been known to me."

He concludes with the statement that: "Certainly my good friend, Dr.
J. B. Gambrell, with whom I have so happily labored through the long years, is headed back toward 'local option' the principle which has, undoubtedly, become so dear to the hearts of our long-time enemies, the brewers,
the distillers and the liquor dealers.
That is exactly what they mean when they talk of 'states' rights' and 'local self-government.'"

"Prince Charming."

Denton, Feb. 6.—Over 100 students of the College of Industrial Arts and school children of Denton will appear in the operetta, "Prince Charming," to be given by the C. I. A. Glee club in the college auditorium the evening of Feb. 8. The part of Prince Charming will be taken by Miss Edith Schaefer of Schulenberg, Queen of Hearts by Miss Anne O'Quinn, St. Valentine, Olga Durham, Waco; the other principal parts by Misses Bess Denison, Temple; Mary Dodd, Rosalie; Frances Ayer, San Antonio; Julia McCoy, Alfred; Reva Mulkey, Tom Bean, and Meta Schwab, Cuero; Hugh Cameron, Denton, and Floyd Graham, Denton.
The Glee club training has been under the direction of Miss S. Justina Smith, while the school children's dances and drills have been taught by Miss Corinne L. Paine, college instructor in physical training and aesthetic dancing.

Forty Glee club girls will have parts
as valentines, tart maids, reception girls and fairies, while the school children ranging in ages from 4 to 12, will represent roses, violets, fairies, butterflies and bumblebees. The fairies in each case will be Mother Goose characters. The college orchestra will accompany the Glee club in their numbers. It is composed of Misses Margaret Decker, Quanah; Wilma
Gause, Mart, and Hazel Howell, El Paso, violins; Bessie Belle Merzbacher, Dallas, cornet; Katherine High, Roxton, Grace Hall and Lou Willie
Hall of San Augustine, mandolins; Nelle Phelps, Dallas, accompanist.

Hunting Brass Thieves.

McGregor, Tex., Feb. 6.—Officers are searching diligently for brass thieves who broke into several places here
some time last night and made away with considerable property. A supply of brass was taken from the office of the car inspector of the Santa Fe railroad, and after entering the fire hall they took all the brass they could find, including the nozzles off all the boilers belonging to the department.
Other things missing as a result of burglaries last night include a two-seated Maxwell auto, belonging to E. J. Thompson, and an electric fan and some stamps, the latter having

Scene from "CALL OF THE WOODS," at the Majestic Commencing Monday.

been taken from the office of the Mc-Gregor Mill and Grain company. Officers believe all the burglaries were committed by one set of burglars, and while they think they have a clue,
no arrests have been made.

Burglar Visits Rankin Home.

Dallas, Feb. 6.—Someone went in a wagon to the home of the late Dr.
George C. Rankin on Swiss avenue last night and hauled off all the feed in the barn. About ten bushels of oats were stolen. The thief also tried to make away with the new automobile which Dr. Rankin had purchased shortly before his death. The car was jacked up, however, with radiator and gasoline tank drained and wheels locked and could not be moved, although there was evidence that the thief had struggled considerably to make away with it.

No one in the Rankin home or in the neighborhood heard the thief and no clues have been found as to his identity. The police are investigating the case.

Five Death Penalty Cases.

Austin, Feb. 6.—Five death penalty cases are up today for consideration by the board of pardons and in four of these applications for commutation
of the death sentence to life imprisonment in the penitentiary have been made. The five cases are Frederico Sanchez, Live Oak county, respited
by Governor Ferguson to March 2;
Sam Harris, Jefferson county, reprieved by former Governor Colquitt to March 30; Will Hemphill, Guadalupe county, sentenced to be hanged
Feb. 26; Frederico Gomez, Webb county, respited to March 22, and Harris Davis, Travis county, sentenced to hang on Feb. 26.

In the Davis case no application for commutation has been filed with the board.

Temple Social Service.

Temple, Feb. 6.—The Temple social service commission has succeeded in securing quarters conveniently located for its temporary refuge for the worthy and deserving unemployed needing assistance and a large ten-room dwelling has been leased and styled the Wilhelmina Home, in honor of Mrs. Bennett F. Smith, the originator of the plan and who is acting as superintendent. Only the most deserving cases are given police orders to the limited facilities. The institution is supported by public subscriptions and the city council has made a small monthly appropriation in behalf of same.

Duchess Enters Sanitarium

DUCHESS OF MANCHESTER

The Duchess of Manchester, who was Miss Helena Zimmerman of Cincinnati, has entered a sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich., as a result of the extreme nervous strain she has endured during the last several months. Shortly after the war broke out the duchess volunteered as one of the leaders in the women's movement to look after wounded English soldiers and their families. Then the sudden death of her father, Eugene Zimmerman, necessitated a hurried trip from England to America. The burden of funeral arrangements fell on her shoulders and after the funeral she became enmeshed in a series of legal difficulties over his estate. The duchess hopes to enjoy absolute quiet for some time to come.

NEW CHURCH WILL BE OPENED THIS MORNING

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CONGREGATION TO GO INTO REMODELED AUDITORIUM.

Dr. F. M. Calvin and Dean Colby Hall of T. C. U. Will Deliver Sermons of the Day.

The handsome new auditorium of the Central Christian church, corner Eleventh and Washington streets, will be formally opened today. While the foundation and walls of the old building remain, so much work has been done in the remodeling that the structure is virtually a new one and the work was done right through the hard times incident to the European war.

A big Bible school rally at 9:30 o'clock this morning will be the first event of the day. All members of the church have been urged to attend this rally, and it is expected to organize a new class for men.

Rev. Frank N. Calvin, the pastor, will preach at the morning service and Dean Colby D. Hall, of T. C. U., at the evening service. The quartette composed of Mrs. Cutler, Mrs. Harris and Messrs. Kelley and Carter will be heard in one of their most beautiful sacred numbers. At the evening service, Tom Hamilton will sing the offertory. A male quartette, Messrs. Smith, Davis, Pasig and Miller, will sing and there will be a violin number by Mr. Blalock.

STOMACH SOUR? STOP INDIGESTION, GAS, HEARTBURN--PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

DON'T SUFFER! REGULATE YOUR UPSET STOMACH IN FIVE MINUTES.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. and Mrs. Dyspeptic, get this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered, you get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach, so you can eat your favorite foods without fear. Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Put an end to stomach trouble by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needful it is to suffer from indigestion, heartburn, gas, sour stomach, etc.

Every man has his limitations. Some are capable of earning more than others—some are the favorites of Circumstance.

STATE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE MEETS HERE

CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

BIG ATTENDANCE IS EXPECTED

Question of Ratifying National Constitution One Matter to Be Decided by Delegates.

Leaders in the Anti-Saloon league in Texas are hopeful that at least 2000 men and women will attend the state meeting to be held in Waco Tuesday and Wednesday. The convention will be held in the auditorium of the First Baptist church and Dr. H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth as chairman of the headquarters committee is expected to preside at the opening session.

A reception will be tendered the visitors from 5 to 7 Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the First Baptist church by the Federation of Missionary societies and the W. C. T. U. In the receiving line will be Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Easton, Mrs. W. W. Woodson, president of the Federation, Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtiss, president of the State W. C. T. U., Miss Kate Friend and Mrs. Fred B. Robinson.

The young men of the Baraca classes of the city will assist Mrs. C. C. Shumway, president of the W. C. T. U., in the introduction of delegates to each other. The young women of the Philanthropic classes will serve refreshments. Delegates will be expected to wear badges on which their names have been written plainly.

Among the prominent speakers who will appear on the program are former Governor J. H. Hodges of Arkansas, Dr. James Cannon Jr. of Virginia, Dr. F. A. Baker, general superintendent of the National Anti-Saloon league; Sam Small, the well-known evangelist, and many others.

The new constitution of the Anti-Saloon league of America, adopted at the last national convention, will be up for ratification or rejection. Many of the states already have ratified it. Some opposition to the new constitution has developed in Texas. Dr. J. B. Gambrell of Dallas being one of the leaders of those who favor ratification.

One of the features of the new instrument arousing opposition is that which fixes the status of state Anti-Saloon leagues as departments of the national organization.

It has been agreed that the matter is to be threshed out at the Waco convention, both sides having agreed to abide by the consequences.

This is the first meeting of the kind ever held in Texas, it is said, and is a matter of importance to the prohibition movement will come up for discussion. It is probable that a future plan of action for the Anti-Saloon league in Texas will be determined by the convention.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS CARRIED ON WARFARE IN VIOLATION OF LAW

acquiesced in the steps taken by the British government to restore the German individuals and property seized in violation of international law. In certain directions they have also aided the British measures, which are irreconcilable with the freedom of the sea, in that they have obviously under the pressure of England hindered by export and transit embargoes the transit of wares for peaceful purposes to Germany.

"The German government has, in vain, called the attention of neutral powers to the fact that it must face the question of whether it can longer preserve in its hitherto strict observance of the rules of the London declaration, if Great Britain were to continue its course of action. The powers were to continue to acquiesce in these violations of neutrality to the detriment of Germany.

"For her violations of international law Great Britain has placed the interests which the British empire has at stake and the neutral powers seem to satisfy themselves with a theoretical protest. Therefore, in fact, they accept the vital interests of belligerents as sufficient excuse for every method of warfare.

"Germany must now appeal to these same vital interests to its regret. It, therefore, sees itself forced to military measures aimed at England in retaliation against the English procedure. Just as England has designated the area between Scotland and Norway as an area of war, so Germany has designated the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, including the entire English channel as an area of war, and thus will proceed against the shipping of the enemy. For this purpose, beginning Feb. 18, 1915, it will endeavor to destroy every enemy merchant ship that is found in the area of war, without it always being possible to avert the peril that thus threatens persons and cargoes.

"Neutrals are, therefore, warned against further intruding crews, passengers and wares to such ships. Their attention is also called to the fact that it is advisable for their ships to avoid entering this area, for even though the German naval forces have instructions to avoid violence to neutral ships, in so far as they are recognizable in view of the misuse of neutral flags ordered by the British government and the contingencies of naval warfare, their becoming victims of torpedoes directed against enemy ships cannot always be averted.

"At the same time it is specifically noted that the shipping north of the Shetland Islands, in the eastern area of the North Sea and in a strip of at least 30 miles in width, along the Netherlands coast is not imperilled.

"The German government gives such an early notice of these measures that hostile as well as neutral ships may have time, accordingly, to adapt their plans for landing at ports in this area of war. It is to be expected that the neutral powers will show no less consideration for the vital interests of Germany than those of England and will aid in keeping their citizens and the property of the latter from this area. This is the more to be expected as it must be to the interest of the neutral powers to see this destructive war end as soon as possible."

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.

The British steamer Lusitania has made use of the American flag in crossing the Irish sea and thereby has probably created a situation which may bring about an inquiry into the whole subject of belligerent vessels utilizing the flags of neutral states.

This incident bears out in a measure at least the allegation made by the German government that British merchantmen have been advised to employ the flag of a neutral nation under certain conditions.

The captain of the Lusitania, according to American passengers, claimed the right to use the American flag in order to protect neutral passengers and mails aboard his ship.

No official report of this incident has been received at Washington, but it is considered likely there that a complete investigation will be made.

The text of the German memorandum regarding the retaliatory measures undertaken by the German government against Great Britain with respect to proposed action in the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, including the English channel, specifically notes that shipping north of the Shetland Islands, in the eastern area of the North Sea, in a strip along the Netherlands coast thirty miles in width, is not imperilled.

Germany expresses the hope that the neutral powers will show no less consideration for the vital interests of Germany than those of England and will aid in keeping their citizens and property out of this area.

Only meagre news has been received from Central Poland to indicate that the trend of the great battle which is being waged to the west and southwest of Warsaw, where Field Marshal von Hindenburg has been hurling his reinforced army against the Russian lines in another attempt to force his way through to Warsaw.

It is believed that the battle continues and earlier reports concerning the nature of the fighting make it appear certain that there has been a great loss of life in the western theatre the customary artillery duels continue, but it is comparatively quiet in this field of operations.

The latest official communication from the French war office refers briefly to the efficient fire maintained by our artillery in Belgium and the valley of the Aisne, and says that slight progress has been made by the allied troops in Champagne to the north of Massignes.

The Austrian war office reports that the fighting continues along the Carpathian front and in Bukovina. The situation in southern Poland and in western Galicia, it is added, remains unchanged.

Emperor William of Germany, having completed his inspection of the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven, has gone to the eastern war zone, traveling by way of Czenstochowa, Russian Poland.

Gen. von Bissing, the new German governor general of Belgium, declares in an interview that American relief in Belgium "was and still is of the highest degree." He asserts that the German army is not using any food stuffs sent to Belgium by America and that the army is drawing its entire food supply from Germany.

The Lusitania received a wireless message from the Baltic of the White Star line, that two submarines had been sighted from that vessel. The captain of the Lusitania, in reply to a question of one of the passengers, declared that he had a right to fly the flag of a neutral country for protection of neutral passengers and mails which the ship was carrying.

After being delayed by heavy storms, which raised seas deck high and injured eleven passengers, the Lusitania arrived off Queenstown late yesterday. She cruised off the Irish port for two hours, and without picking up a pilot, as is usually done, proceeded for Liverpool at full speed, arriving at the Mersey channel at daybreak with the Stars and Stripes still flying.

Fighting Continues.

Vienna, Feb. 6.—The war department has issued the following statement:

"Along the Carpathian front and in Bukovina the fighting continues. The situation in Poland and West Galicia remains unchanged. A Russian attack on Lopuszno (region of Kielec) was repulsed.

"In the southern war theatre nothing of significance has occurred recently."

The Blockade Plan.

Berlin, by Wireless to London, Feb. 6.—The memorandum of the German government concerning a blockade of British waters states:

"The British war measures are a continuous violation of international law. Great Britain placed objects which were not of any use in war on the list of contraband articles and even dismissed the question of contraband by seizing all objects destined for Germany and by taking away German property from neutral ships and imprisoning Germans of military age found on neutral ships.

"All these measures have for their object the maintenance of British interests, the destruction of German economic life and the starvation of the German people.

"Neutral powers are contenting themselves with vain protests against Great Britain's illegal and injurious measures, and are even under pressure from England issuing orders prohibiting the export and transit of goods to Germany.

"Germany, therefore, is obliged energetically to protect her life and interests by forcing a blockade. A fortnight's delay will give merchant ships the necessary time to make arrangements."

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means your stomach is sour—your liver is torpid—your bowels constipated. It isn't your stomach's fault—it isn't indigestion—its biliousness and constipation. Try Cascarets; they sweeten the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble, headache, bad cold and all such misery ends.

THE MANY SIDED LINCOLN

Copyright 1915, by The International Syndicate.

His Life As A Lover, Lawyer and Statesman -- A Pen Picture of the Human Side of This Remarkable Man Whose Greatest Travail of Soul Was A Dis-United Nation.

LINCOLN was a product of the pioneer life of the Middle West, but thoroughly American. His humble origin had taught him to sympathize with those who struggled against difficulties, and the privations of his early days caused him to know and understand the feelings of those who battled against an adverse world. From his infancy he had mingled with that class of our people who were engaged in the double task of building on solid foundations the great industrial structure of the central part of our country and of carving out for themselves careers worthy of fame and fortune. His opportunities for getting close to the people were exceptionally good, their daily life was under his constant observation, their trials and tribulations were part of his for he had more than his share of them, their hopes received his encouragement and their sorrows were shared and relieved with a warm generosity.

Born Amid Poverty.
Born in a Kentucky cabin amid the most abject poverty, Lincoln's early childhood was made up of the continual privations of a cheerless home, for it seems that his father could scarcely keep the wolf from the door. His mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, was superior to her husband in education, for she could read and write. It is said she taught her husband to write his name.

Lincoln's father was a "rolling stone," moving from place to place in search of a better place for making a living. In 1818, when the Lincoln family were living in a shack in Indiana, an epidemic known as "milk fever" spread over that section and Mrs. Lincoln was one of the first to die of the disease. The fact that she was buried without religious ceremony so preyed upon the mind of young Abraham, then a boy of ten years, that he wrote to Parson Elkins, a Free Will Baptist minister who lived over in Kentucky, begging him to come and preach a funeral sermon for his mother. Several months later the minister came to Indiana and delivered an address—a eulogy on the noble character of Mrs. Lincoln.

About a year later Lincoln's father married Mrs. Sally Bush Johnson, a widow with three children. It seems that the second Mrs. Lincoln brought order out of chaos in the Lincoln home by her thrift and industry. She was fond of young Abraham and proud of the boy's ambition. This bond of affection between the boy and his step-mother continued until his death. After he had been elected President in 1860 he visited his step-mother just before starting for Washington. As he was leaving the old lady suddenly flung her arms about his neck and bursting into tears declared that she felt that it was the last time she would ever see him alive. Her predictions came true, for the next time she saw him it was in his coffin at Springfield, when she had to be carried from the room. She died in 1869, four years after the assassination of the man who attributed his rise in the world to her teachings.

Lincoln's boyhood was spent at hard labor. He hired out upon the neighboring farms when there was nothing to do at home. His wages, twenty-five cents per day, were paid to his father who declared that a boy six feet tall had no business wasting his time in school, especially when he had to walk nine miles a day to and from the school house.

Cared Little For Amusements.
As a boy Lincoln cared little for the amusements enjoyed by other boys, and all his spare time was spent in reading such books as he could borrow. His step-mother aided him and the two had animated discussions over such books as the Life of Washington, Pilgrims Progress, Aesop's Fables, Plutarch's Lives and the Bible. This sacred book is now in the possession of Mr. Osborn Olroyd, who owns such a valuable collection of relics of the martyred President.

How He Acquired The Name of "Rail-Splitter."

When Lincoln had completed his twenty-first year his father decided to move again. So, the household articles were packed in a wagon and the family moved to Illinois, settling on the north side of the Sangamon river. There they built a log cabin. Young Abraham and John Hanks, who had married Mrs. Lincoln's daughter, then split rails and built a fence about the place. These rails, by the way, are about the only rails ever split by the famous statesman. His sobriquet, "The Illinois Rail Splitter," came about through a dramatic scene devised and carried out by John Hanks and Richard J. Oglesby at the Chicago Convention in 1860 when Lincoln was nominated for President. At a signal from Mr. Oglesby, John Hanks appeared bearing two weather-beaten fence rails decorated with banners inscribed to the effect that they were two of the three thousand rails Lincoln had split on the Sangamon river in 1830. The crowd went wild, and after quiet was restored Mr. Lincoln was called to the stand. He looked at the rails and became convulsed with laughter.

"I suppose you people want to know something about these rails. Well, the truth is, John Hanks and I did make rails in the Sangamon bottom. I don't know whether we made these rails or not; fact is, I don't think they are a credit to the maker, but I know this, I made rails then and I think I could make better ones now!"

Later, rails shown at the Convention were shipped from place to place and became an emblem of the campaign.

Inventor.
In 1831 Lincoln left home and obtained employment with Dennis Offutt, a trader. It was agreed that he was to make a trip to New Orleans, but when the boat was started it stuck in the edge of the dam near the village of New Salem. Here again Lincoln's genius was shown for he saved the craft which was in imminent danger of shipwreck, for the bow was high and the stern almost under water. Lincoln had the cargo taken off, then he bored a hole in the bottom of the end which extended over the dam and let the water out. This being done the boat was shoved over the dam and reloaded. All New Salem proclaimed him a genius, and his saving the boat was the sole topic of conversation for some time. Twenty years later Lincoln applied for a patent on a contrivance for lifting flat boats over shoals—an idea developed from this incident.

It was during this trip to New Orleans that Lincoln became convinced that slavery was wrong, although at the time he said little about it. He returned to New Salem and for a time engaged in a mercantile business. But this proved a failure on account of the proprietor's fondness for reading rather than weighing out sugar. Then he took up surveying. Later he drifted into politics and was appointed postmaster, and finally he was sent to the legislature from that section.

Love Affairs.

While he was living in New Salem he met the girl he loved until the day of his death. It was Anne Rutledge, the daughter of the man who kept the hotel at which young Lincoln lived. She was already engaged to be married when Lincoln met her, but this did not prevent him from falling hopelessly in love with the frail, blue-eyed girl who sat by his side at the long table in the hotel dining room. Her sweetheart had gone East to attend to some business affairs. At first he wrote to her, but gradually the intervals between the letters became longer and longer, and finally he ceased to write at all. Lincoln knew the girl's sorrow, and he sought to cheer her. After awhile there were long walks through the shady lanes and chats in the quaint little parlor of the hotel. At first Anne refused to listen to Lincoln's suit, but finally, after he had deserted her, she promised to marry him. It was decided that he would go to Jacksonville to finish her education while Lincoln was to continue his law studies and attend to his legislative duties at Springfield. In the spring he was to be admitted to the bar and then they would be married. But Fate intervenes, for Anne Rutledge fell ill and died. The cause of her death was said to be brain fever, but those who were about her bedside declare that she was broken-hearted over the desertion of her former lover. Lincoln's sorrow was so great that for several months he was closely guarded by his friends who feared that he might commit suicide.

Lincoln as he looked in 1860

Lincoln was not handsome, nor did he possess attractive manners, nor was he well off in worldly goods, yet his company was much sought after by women, and when he began to take part in the social life at Springfield he was overwhelmed with invitations. His next love affair (if it might be called one) was with Miss Mary Owens, which began in jest and came near ending in earnest. When this young lady and her sister were about to leave for a visit to Kentucky Miss Owens' sister told Lincoln that if he would promise to marry the departing sister she would return to Springfield. Lincoln laughingly said "Yes." and thought no more about it. He was greatly distressed, however, when he learned that the young lady expected him to fulfill his promise. She was several years his senior and not in the least good-looking. Lincoln did not even admire her, but he was the soul of honor and made up his mind to fulfill his promise. He, however, wrote her a letter telling her of his defects. Miss Owens was evidently not pleased with the epistle, for she at once replied, telling him that she never had any intention of marrying one so deficient "in those links which go to make up a woman's happiness," and the affair ended.

A year of two later Miss Mary Todd, of Kentucky, came to Springfield to visit her sister, the wife of one of Lincoln's colleagues in the Legislature. She was a good-looking, vivacious young woman and soon she had a score of admirers about her—among them Stephen A. Douglass and Lincoln. After a few months it became evident that Lincoln was the favored suitor, and finally against the wishes of her sister, who thought the young man too poor to marry, Miss Todd and Lincoln became engaged. He was ambitious and spent a great deal of time at his books and did not pay her the devoted attention she desired. The most of her time was spent in social pleasures. This led to misunderstanding until finally Lincoln concluded that they were unsuited to each other and asked her to release him from the engagement. She consented with tears of anger and grief after a scene which Lincoln never forgot. He became morose and constantly reproached himself for his breach of honor toward a woman who he felt really loved him. His melancholy increased, and at last his friends persuaded him to take a vacation in Kentucky. Miss Todd in the meantime waited patiently for her lover to return to her, which he did after fighting a dogged duel on account of a doggerel poem which she claimed the authorship of the poem when he learned that the man about whom it was written was likely to make trouble. The affair brought the young couple together and they were married November 4th, 1842.

No Talent For Saving.
Lincoln's talent for money making—or, rather, for money saving, was totally lacking. He made what was considered a good income in those days, but he was never able to save much. His step-mother needed financial aid, and his step-brother, of whom he was very fond, did not hesitate to ask his assistance frequently.

After a few years of married life he purchased a modest frame house in an unfashionable part of Springfield. Later it was enlarged and was still his home at the time of his death. It was the only piece of real estate he ever owned. The Lincoln's lived well and their table was famous for its Kentucky dishes, such as venison and wild turkey. Mrs. Lincoln's love for social life was even stronger after her marriage than it had been before, and her evening parties were the talk and her evening capital. Her genial manners and Mr. Lincoln's wit drew a large circle of friends about them. Four sons blessed the union. One died in infancy, another in childhood, and Thomas, familiarly known as "Tad," died a few years after his father. Robert Todd, the eldest son, is still living. Mr. Lincoln was devoted to his children and even when they were babies he used to carry them to his office. Their little friends were welcome, too, and it was no uncommon thing for a client to find three or four children playing about the office.

Lawyer.
Lincoln's life as a member of the Springfield bar was interesting, and an entire book might be written in reference to his cases. Most of his fees were small and often taken out in groceries, poultry, butter, etc. Even after he had become a partner of John T. Stuart, who was regarded as one of the leading lawyers of that part of the country, he made little money. For the account book of this firm, still preserved, shows that their entire business for a year was not more than sixteen hundred dollars. Lincoln won many of his cases by his pointed anecdotes, which always seemed to be on the tip of his tongue when he wanted to illustrate a case.

His fame as a story teller is well known and served him during the dark days of the Civil War when a witty story sometimes shut off a discussion which bid fair to end seriously.

Mr. Lincoln's cross-examination of a witness had no equal at the Illinois bar for he had the faculty of making the witness tell the truth without the usual brow-beating tactics so common at that time. One of his greatest legal triumphs was the acquittal of a neighbor named Duff Armstrong who was charged with murder. Several witnesses testified that they saw the accused commit the deed by the light of the moon. Lincoln made no cross-examination—he merely persuaded them to reiterate their testimony about the moon. Finally, the exact size and position of the moon was proved. When the case was ready for the jury instead of making the usual speech Lincoln produced an almanac which showed that there was no moon on the night the crime was committed. The man was acquitted and the witnesses tried for perjury.

His career at the Springfield Bar spread over a period of twenty-five years. During the entire time he preserved a high sense of honor, and if he felt that his client was guilty of wrongdoing he was usually able to persuade the client to give up the litigation.

Orator.
Lincoln's name as an orator dates back to his debate with Douglass in 1858. Then came his great speech at Cooper Institute in 1860, his famous oration at the dedication of the Gettysburg Cemetery in 1863, and his second inaugural address in 1865. These four speeches are regarded as world masterpieces in oratory, yet they were couched in the simplest language and delivered almost without gestures. It was the intense sincerity of the speaker which drew his audience.

He was absolutely fearless even when quite a young man and quick to defend or assist his friends. On one occasion while he was making a speech one of his friends became involved in a fight on the edge of the crowd. Lincoln stopped speaking and jumping from the dry goods box which he had been using as a rostrum he ran through the crowd and seized the assailant of his friend and threw him ten or twelve feet down a hill, after which he went back and resumed his speech. He exhibited this same fearlessness after he became President and frightened the Secret Service men by going to places where feeling against him existed. When told that he was in danger of assassination he paid no attention to the warning and went where he pleased.

Politician.
Lincoln's political life began when he was but twenty-two years of age, and from that day to the time of his death he was a politician. Although he several times refused nominations he was always in the game. He came to Congress in 1847, and while in Washington became very friendly with Daniel Webster, who was then in the Senate. Webster became fond of Lincoln, who was often his guest at the famous Saturday morning breakfasts. These were about the only social attentions which Lincoln accepted while in Washington, although Mrs. Lincoln chafed under what she called being "shut up in a cheap hotel." Lincoln continued his study while in Congress, getting many of his reference books from the Supreme Court Library. His favorite way of carrying the books to and from the library was by tying them up in a bandana handkerchief and slinging them over his shoulder. After his term in Congress expired he returned to Springfield and took up the practice of law, but he was soon drawn back into the political vortex.

In 1860 he became a candidate for the highest office in the gift of the people and was elected. He received the Notification Committee in his modest Springfield home. His house is now the property of the State of Illinois, having been presented to the State by Robert Lincoln.

Lincoln's troubles began early, for even before he started for Washington to be inaugurated a plot to assassinate him was discovered. The train on which he travelled to the nation's capital was switched off by another route and the plans of the assassins thus frustrated.

At the time of his election he was a tall, gaunt man with long limbs, large feet and hands, stooping shoulders and coarse features. He was, taken all in all, at first glance a most unprepossessing personage, but after he had spoken a few words a change seemed to come over the features and the ungainly appearance was forgotten.

Diplomatist.
Lincoln was a diplomatist to a remarkable degree—a talent developed in his boyhood when he was selected as umpire of wrestling matches, cock fights, races, etc. His associates had confidence in his judgment and honesty. Added to these qualities he possessed tact and was a peace maker. His decisions were rarely, if ever, questioned.

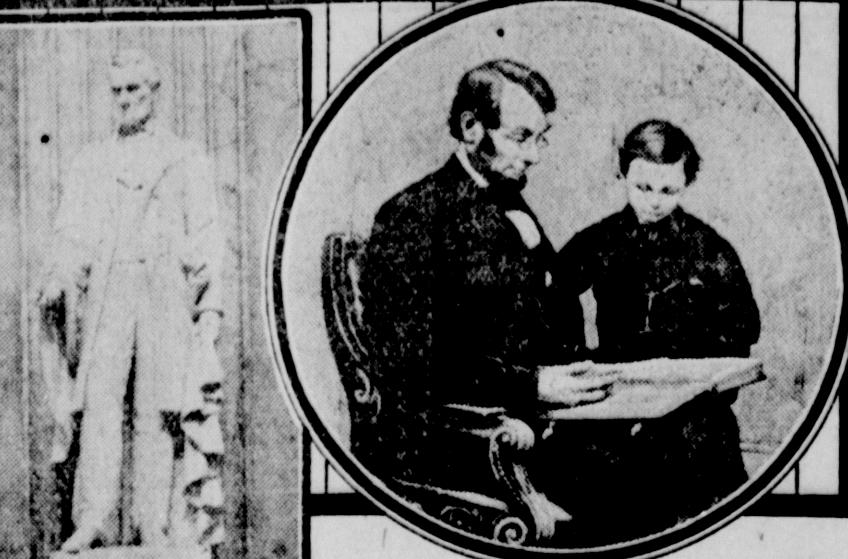

He was not a member of church, although he was a man of keen perceptions of right and wrong. He declined to join church because he could not accept the doctrine taught by the Baptist and Christian Churches to which his parents belonged. Nor did he accept the tenets of the Presbyterians, the church to which his wife belonged. He, however, attended church regularly, and the Reverend Doxey Guey, who was one of his best friends, declared that he was a "true believer." Lincoln was an habitual reader of the Bible and was perhaps more familiar with its contents than most clergymen.

He was a teetotaler and up to the time of his election to the Presidency he had never tasted whiskey. This was learned after a newspaper article had been written in which the reporter stated that the President-elect treated the guests to water, which later brought out the fact that Lincoln had always stood for temperance.

Just A Plain, Sincere Man.
In the martyred President the American people have a type of manhood which bristles with more of the genuinely human quality than any other of our public men, and whose life had little of the pretense or show which is so often mistaken for culture or embellishment. He was just a man, simple in manner, sincere in thought and action, and steadfast in the pursuit of truth as he saw and understood it.

The story of his assassination, just as a speck of blue was showing through the dark clouds which had hovered over his administration, is too well known to need repetition here, suffice to say that he died at 7:22 on the morning of April 15th, 1865, in the Peterson home, 516 North Tenth St., Washington, where he had been carried after the fatal shot was fired.

Thus passed from earth one of the greatest men the world has ever known—one whose name will live forever in the annals of history as the Preserver of the American Republic.

Cotton.

New York, Feb. 6.—Cotton was nervous and irregular during today's trading, with prices showing a tendency to ease off under continued liquidation. The close was steady but unchanged to 4 points lower.

Cables were steady but there appeared to be some overnight selling orders around the ring and the local market opened at a decline of 2 to 4 points. Trade interests were buyers at the decline, with the demand coming from very much the same sources as that of yesterday.

There also was some scattered covering on the continued steadiness of southern markets, rather a favorable view of the week-end reviews of the dry goods markets, the large amount of cotton reaching on ship board at the end of the week, clearing clearance and the fact that spinners' takings for the week were in excess of last year's.

After a rally which carried some of the active months about 3 to 4 points net higher the market again turned easier under a renewal of Wall street and western liquidation, which was attributed to nervousness over the shipping situation and apprehensions that something might happen over Sunday to cause another increase in war risks.

It was reported there was some selling of near months here by southern shippers, but the market previously held for export. The market sold 5 to 8 points net lower under this pressure, but last prices showed moderate rallies on renewed support from some of the large spot houses.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Feb. 5.—Cotton was depressed today by short selling, based on harsh claims that shippers were not getting through new business with Europe. The lowest point for the trading months was 4 to 5 points under yesterday's final prices, and the close was at a net loss of 2 to 4 points.

In the early trading the market had a good tone, and went 4 points over yesterday's close on favorable cables. Buyers also had buying orders over night on the bullish features of the week-end statistics, the large mill takings and the liquidation, which was attributed to market made no great show of strength, however, and was soon affected by the pressure from the short side.

One report said that ocean freight room was to some extent being resold, which the bears claimed meant that the pressure of the export movement was over. Bulls met such accounts by predictions of total exports of over 5,000,000 bales before the end of this month, basing their forecast on the heavy stocks at ports and the continued heavy movement to the ports.

Wheat.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Decided falling off in export call for wheat, and France resulted here today in flurried trading of wheat. The market, although relatively steady at the close, was 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 under last night. Other leading staples, too, all finished at net declines—wheat 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, oats 5/8 to 3/4, and provisions 10 to 20c.

Wheat traders here favored by a threatened submarine blockade of British ports, were rendered more anxious when dispatches from Liverpool announced a falling policy was being favored toward English buyers. It was feared that stocks would quickly pile up at the American seaboard, despite predictions that the United States visible total on today would show a big decrease. In addition, country offerings were somewhat larger than has recently been the case.

On the break in wheat prices a good many commission firms appeared to place orders to purchase. It was shown that clearances for Europe were heavy, notwithstanding the blockade menace. Week-end evening up by shorts helped slow to bring about comparative firmness in the last hour.

Corn fell with wheat, and as a result the slowness of cash inquiry. Liquidating sales formed the rule in oats. Large receipts of hogs acted as a weight on provisions.

Futures ranged as follows:

Wheat—Open	High	Low	Close

74TH COURT TO OPEN
BUSINESS MONDAY

J. W. WEAVER APPOINTED COURT
REPORTER—DOCKET IS REVISED.

Judge Erwin J. Clark of the Seventy-fourth district court received his commission yesterday morning. He was sworn into office by District Clerk R. V. McClain, after which he appointed J. W. Weaver as court reporter. Mr. Weaver took the required examination without any trouble and qualified for service. He is a son-in-law of the late Judge G. B. Gerald. He has had a great deal of experience in court procedure and is said to be fitted for the place.

The first session of the new court will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Fifty-fourth district court room. Judge Clark will occupy the rooms now occupied by the offices of County Engineer R. J. Windrow, but will not move into them until the latter part of this month.

Numerous changes have been made in the setting of cases for the coming term of the new court. District Clerk R. V. McClain has, accordingly, made out the following corrected setting, which includes all cases that will be tried at this term:

February 8—Gaddy vs. Boynton, Randall vs. Beasley, Robertson vs. Marx, McMillan vs. S. W. Telephone Co., Grossman vs. Ring.
February 11—Texas Packing Co. vs. St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co., W. E. Dunne vs. J. Levinson, Rose, trustee, vs. Hays Investment Co., Modjinski vs. Jones, Price vs. Singer Mfg. Co.
February 15—Ginochio-Costa Co. vs. Duysse Committee, Ellis vs. Tupper, Truhenback vs. Early-Foster Co., Hamilton-Turner Gro. Co. vs. Osborne, Penney vs. Maddox, Shear vs. Anderson.
February 18—Jackson vs. Grand Lodge etc., Walker vs. Cameron, Glasgow vs. Denton, Byrd vs. I. & G. N., Conrey vs. Hays.

March 8—Fore vs. M., K. & T., Clements vs. Waco Mill and Elevator Co., Angus vs. Amcott, Falls Rubber Co. vs. LaFon, Harris vs. Santa Fe.
March 11—Pillott vs. St. L. S. W., King vs. St. L. S. W., Marshall vs. St. L. S. W., John & Co. vs. C. H. Cox & Co.
March 15—Lowenstein vs. Watt, Stone vs. Thompson, Sullivan vs. H. & T. C., Bateman vs. Shell, Pricke vs. North American Ins.

March 18—Harrison vs. Fidelity and Deposit Co., Clark vs. Cecil Lyon, receiver, Neelley vs. Haneley, Levy & Rosen vs. Providence Washington Ins. Co., Jackson vs. Southern Traction Co.
March 22—Levy & Rosen vs. Commercial Union Ins. Co., Levy & Rosen vs. Milwaukee Mechanical Ins. Co., Wise vs. Farrell, Orem vs. Southern Traction Co., Orman vs. Levy et al.

March 25—Levy & Rosen vs. Cox, American Potato Co. vs. Cox, National Exchange and Trust Co. vs. Koch, Fox vs. Santa Fe, Townsend vs. Sam Houston Ins. Co., Pyles vs. McClintock.

HUNT JONES IS CANDIDATE

Manager of The Famous Latest Aspirant for Finance Commissioner.

Hunt Jones, manager of The Famous, a local department store, is the latest entrant in the municipal primary, having announced his determination to seek the nomination for finance commissioner, the place that has been held for the past three years by Commissioner Caulfield, who is not offering for re-election.

Mr. Jones came to Waco from Louisville, Ky., but he has been a resident of other large cities, and everywhere he has lived he has given that consideration to public affairs that has acquainted him with municipal problems and which is calculated to equip him for discharging the duties of a commissioner. Since coming to Waco he has been an active citizen at the same time that he has managed his business, and he and his friends feel that his experience has been such as to justify his ambition to serve the citizenship in a public capacity.

Prominent in the moral and social life of the city, as well as in business circles, Mr. Jones has gained a wide acquaintance and won for himself a reputation for competency, fair dealing and aggressiveness. While a young man, he has had sufficient experience and study to equip him for public service and his friends believe his work for the city during the period of the next two years would be very valuable.
